Deer Creek residents flooded out

CANTON— Life for flood-victim residents of Deer Creek Apartments may soon be back to normal.

Residents of 34 units of the large apartment complex at Joy and I-275 last week were hit by rain waters which rolled into their first-floor apartments.

THE WATER, confined mainly to the sunken living rooms, reached more than a foot above floor level in a few units and averaged five or six inches depth in most flooded apartments, according to Bruce Phillips, Canton Township's ordinance officer.

Residents of two units hit worst by the flood were moved to drier apartments. Other residents put up with soggy, water-stained furniture and occasional bugs and frogs which entered their apartments along with the water.

Martin Kopitz, co-owner and manager of Deer Creek, estimates building damage at $10,000. Living room carpeting in all 34 units must be replaced, and all flooded apartments must be disinfected.

An unknown amount of damage to residents' furniture and personal belongings brings Kopitz's estimate well above the $10,000 mark. A clause in residents' leases says the apartment management is not responsible for damage to personal belongings, but renter's insurance does not cover flood damage.

KOPITZ POINTS an accusing finger at the construction of I-275, located to the west of the apartment complex, for the flooding. All apartments flooded during last Tuesday's storm are located near the expressway.

"There was a torrent of water that looked like a rapids coming from the expressway," Kopitz said. "We really feel this is someone else's responsibility. It either has something to do with the construction of the expressway or inadequate storm sewers."

After investigating the matter, the apartment management will probably file a lawsuit against the party which it feels is responsible, Kopitz said.

Last Tuesday's storm, which caused the flooding, was a type that occurs once every 10 years, according to Supervisor Robert Greenstein.

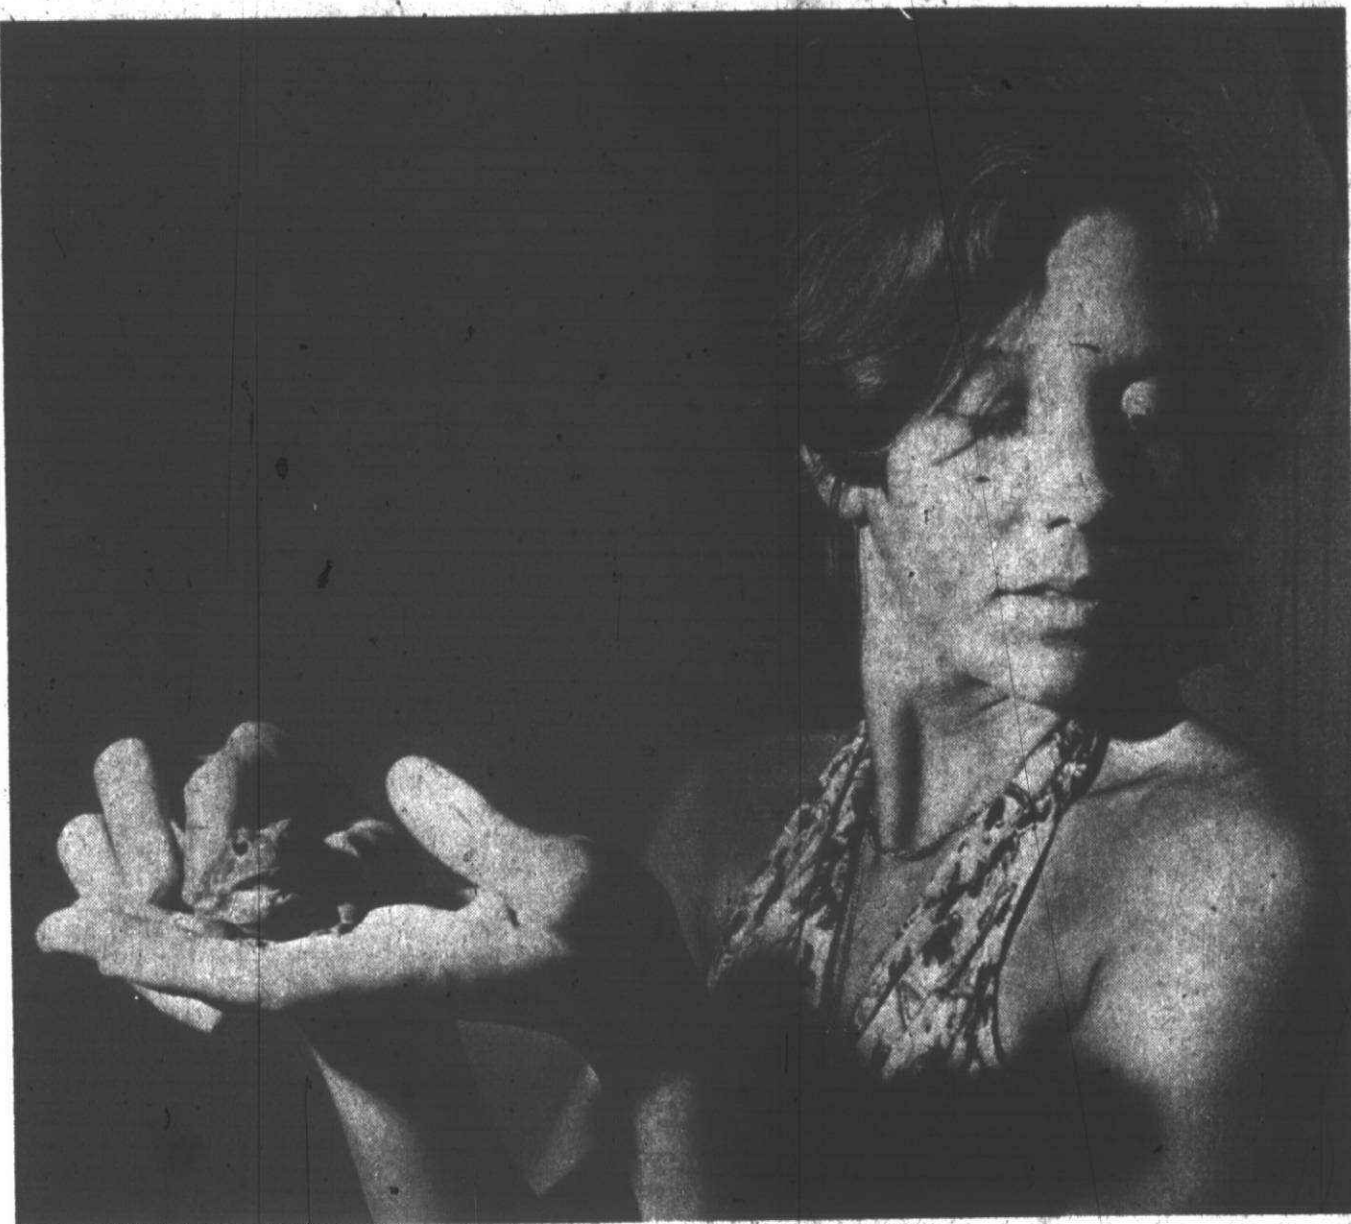

"We have not yet found out why those apartments flooded," Greenstein said. "That was really a tremendous rain. My suspicion is that there may be part of a storm sewer system that isn't completely constructed or properly maintained."

ACCORDING to Phillips, who investigated the flooded apartments on the township's behalf, 10 of the 34 flooded units were unoccupied at the time of the flood, and residents of two units were moved to other apartments.

Phillips must inspect all vacated units before they are reoccupied and all occupied units before new carpeting is laid, according to Greenstein.

"Those apartments will not be legally occupied until we give the OK," the supervisor said. "It's an unhealthy situation."

Phillips said bugs and frogs crawled into some apartments with the flood waters. Residents still living in units damaged by the flood must stare at a

Biblical plague: floods & frogs

DIANE LOCKREY'S first-floor apartment in Canton Township's Deer Creek apartment complex was one of the hardest hit by flooding in Tuesday's storm.

More than one foot of water filled Ms. Lockrey's sunken living room and damaged furniture, books and records. Removal of the sopping living room carpet left a bare concrete floor, where occasional frogs and bugs could be found.

The apartment's management has moved Ms. Lockrey to another apartment, while the flooded unit is being repaired and renovated for another occupant.

Daniels named Canton editor

CANTON — Emory Daniels has been appointed community editor of the Canton Observer & Eccentric, effective immediately.

Daniels, named to fill the position left by the death of R.T. Thompson, brings with him to the community almost 10 years experience as editor of other newspapers in the Observer & Eccentric organization.

"We feel Canton Township needs someone with Daniels' experience in editing local newspapers and with his understanding of what readers expect to see in their hometown paper," said John Reddy, executive editor, in making the announcement.

DANIELS, 31, began his newspaper career as managing editor of the old Wayne Dispatch which published in Nankin Township, Garden City, Romulus and the City of Wayne.

In December 1965 he joined Observer Newspapers as editor of the Nankin and Garden City editions. During that time, he covered the opening of Westland Shopping Center and the incorporation election which resulted in the township becoming the City of Westland.

Editor

He served three years as editor of the Farmington Enterprise & Observer and was again involved in the city-hood question. One of his first assignments was to cover a community effort made through the State Boundary Commission to consolidate the City of Farmington, Farmington Township and two villages into one new city.

"With his experience in Nankin Township and Farmington Township, Daniels has an appreciation for the problems faced by former rural areas which have boomed into fast-growing suburbs, as has happened in Canton Township," commented Philip H. Power, co-publisher of the Observer & Eccentric.

"Nankin's history closely paralleled Canton's, including the impact a major shopping center can have on a community. Farmington, such as the Canton-Plymouth community, has a number of institutions like the library, community center, recreation facilities, post office, YMCA and school district which is shared by neighboring governmental units. I believe Daniels' experience in Westland and Farmington has prepared him well for this important assignment in Canton."

DANIELS WAS born in the Saginaw area and moved with his family to Garden City where he graduated from Garden City East in 1961.

He attended Central Michigan University and graduated in 1965 with a BS in secondary education with major in journalism and minor in history. This year he completed requirements for an associate's degree in business administration from Schoolcraft College.

In 1966 he married the former Beverly Hudson, a 1962 graduate of Wayne Memorial High and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudson of Coolidge Street, Plymouth. The Dan-

Rapid rail transit for area delayed

By TIM RICHARD
Schoolcraft Road in these suburbs may be in a rapid rail transit corridor some day, but not until after 1990.

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) last week approved its long-awaited 1990 transportation plan, giving a nod to future rapid transit service for this area.

It was a modest victory for such suburban leaders as State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), Schoolcraft College Trustee Arch Vallier and Livonia's Mayor Edward McNamara, who had protested the elimination of the Schoolcraft Road corridor from earlier versions of the rapid transit plan.

INSTEAD, SEMCOG adopted a plan that contained this stipulation: "The long range desirability of a high-level extension (of rapid transit) along the Schoolcraft corridor is recognized, and provisions for such an extension are included in initial design of the Grand River high-level line.

"By 1990, however, sufficient demand does not exist within the Schoolcraft corridor to justify construction of a high-level system."

The new Schoolcraft freeway will be opening up with the corridor and will provide significantly improved transportation service over the next 15 years. Given the availability of the new freeway, intermediate level service (express bus) is proposed as the most cost-effective solution for extending transit service throughout the Schoolcraft corridor with the near term.

"Future construction of the high-level extension could utilize either the freeway right-of-way or the existing

C&O Railroad right-of-way" (between Schoolcraft and Plymouth roads) depending upon the results of more detailed engineering feasibility studies."

THAT'S THE plan. Implementation is up to the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

In that regard, Oakland County Commissioner Lawrence Pernick (D-Southfield) urged SEMCOG's general assembly delegates to get their legislators to support Gov. Milliken's proposed $175 million transportation bond proposal. The bond issue would provide the state's 10 per cent share of a beginning on a rapid transit system.

"Our constituents see many plans but few achievements," said Pernick. "Get to your legislators to support this plan."

THE TRANSPORTATION plan provides for a half-dozen rapid transit lines:

- The Woodward corridor from downtown Detroit to Birmingham.
- The Grand River - Schoolcraft - Southfield corridor from downtown Detroit to Northland Center. It's this line that western Wayne County forces wanted extended through Redford Township, Livonia and Plymouth sooner than the 21st century.

- Michigan Avenue from downtown Detroit to Inkster Road.
- The Fort Street corridor from Southfield freeway to downtown. This would be a spur of the Michigan Avenue corridor.
- Gratiot corridor from downtown Detroit to Nine Mile in East Detroit.
- Mound Road, from Gratiot to I-696 in Center Line. This would be a spur of the Gratiot line.

Besides the express bus line on Schoolcraft Road, another such line is designated for Eight Mile from Northville east to the Detroit River.

ANOTHER CHANGE affecting western Wayne County was a "study band" placed over the Sheldon Road corridor from Nine Mile to the M-14 freeway.

Wayne County Road Commission plans designate Sheldon as an "intermediate arterial"—a multi-lane road in rural and suburban areas with no parking.

The City of Northville opposed the plan in earlier hearings, preferring instead that the Northville-Griswold roads connection be considered.

A study band means the area will be shown in grey on the 1990 plan map and be reviewed in the future.

In other action, SEMCOG's general assembly appointed two members to the board of SEMTA: James Gran- nan, a former Fraser councilman and former SEMCOG assembly chairman; and Rudolph McCulloch, a United Auto Workers official from Detroit.

Under present law, SEMCOG ap- points six SEMTA board members and the governor, three.

Jaycees to name Ms. Wheelchair

A Ms. Wheelchair Michigan-1976 will be selected during the Ms. Wheelchair Michigan Pageant finals at 8 p.m., July 12 in the Activities Building of Madonna College, Schoolcraft and Levan, Livonia.

The public is invited to attend the program, sponsored in its third year by Michigan Jaycees.

Dan Goodfellow, a six-year Livonia Jaycee, is the State Jaycee chairman for the event. He was chairman of the sponsoring Livonia Jaycee committee in 1974, and his efforts helped implement the pageant concept.

THE PAGEANT is strictly a poise, personality, and accomplishment competition not a beauty contest as originally conceived.

Contestants from all parts of the state will be evaluated by judges from a variety of occupations, who are aware of the problems and needs of the physically limited.

Entrants must be Michigan residents, single or married, at least 18 years of age, and wheelchair users at least 50 per cent of the time.

A Ms. Wheelchair Michigan and two runners-up will be selected, as well as a Ms. Congeniality and a Ms. Achievement.

Ms. Wheelchair Michigan becomes a spokesperson for the 900,000 physically limited persons in the state and represents the state at the Miss Wheelchair America competition in Columbus, Ohio in September.

Cancer group to meet July 8

Cancer patients and their families will meet at 2 p.m. July 8 in the parlor of Westminster Church, 17567 Hubbell at Outer Drive in Detroit.

Sponsored by The American Cancer Society, the purpose of this self-help group is to bring together persons who are experiencing similar problems as a result of the disease. A professional resource person will be available to answer questions.

The Wayne County Unit of the Cancer Society has more information.

WANDA STEVENS of Jackson is this year's Ms. Wheelchair Michigan. A typist-receptionist for the Michigan Department of Vocational Rehabilitation Services, she is able to see actual cases of employer and client unwillingness to provide employment for the handicapped.

She explains: "The affirmative action clause of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended in 1974, is probably the most powerful piece of federal legislation affecting the physically limited yet. The law hits at the very core of existence—employment. The law makes it mandatory for all private businesses which have contracts involving at least $2,500 of annual federal monies, to draft an affirmative action program to allow for employment of the physically limited. It is something that I personally am very close to because of my job."

Free lecture on death, dying set at Madonna

A lecture on death and dying, sponsored by the Religious Studies Department of Madonna College, is free to the public at 7 p.m., July 9 in the Science Lecture Hall.

First Sunday Parents, a group session of bereaved parents, will be led by the group's initiators, Mr. and Mrs. James Reynolds, and the Rev. Russ Kohler of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, Detroit.

The college is located on Schoolcraft and Levan in Livonia.

Chamber asks input from Canton board

CANTON—A series of approved and proposed ordinances, designed to protect the consumer and regulate the business, is creating a rift between township hall and the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

The legislation has prompted a Chamber of Commerce request to review and evaluate proposed business-related ordinances before they are officially introduced.

Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein calls the request a plea for favoritism and says the board of trustees will not favor businessmen above township residents.

SINCE LAST November, when Greenstein and other board members took office, a flurry of consumer and business-related ordinances has passed over the board table.

The board approved an ordinance restricting the size and location of commercial signs; an ordinance banning self-service gasoline stations; and an ordinance requiring developers to replace trees they chop down.

The board has proposed a consumer protection agency to license and regulate businesses. Trustee Robert Myers has asked board members to study an ordinance requiring businessmen to label all products with prices, even if a computerized checkout system is used.

Board members also are working on an apartment ordinance requiring an inspection of each apartment unit before new tenants move in.

BUT CHAMBER of Commerce members feel the township board and the business community should fully evaluate the ordinances before they become law.

"All we're asking for is that they do a good job evaluating these ordinances before they pass them," said Bart Berg, president of the chamber. "I would like to have these ordinances looked at a little more solidly."

Before they come through with an ordinance, they should consult the business community for a little input. For the well-established businessman who may be here 20 years, you don't have to have all these regulations."

In a letter to township officials, Berg asked for input into business-related ordinances and said: "Although the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce does not wish to be categorized as being negative to the decisions of the board of trustees, we are concerned about the veritable flood of legislation and proposed legislation directly affecting commerce in our community and the indirect effect on the consumers through the increased costs of doing business."

"We believe that a prosperous business community will enhance Canton Township's reputation as a pleasant and viable community."

GREENSTEIN called the letter "very diplomatic."

"My reaction is that the Chamber is trying to obtain an advantageous position as a highly favored organization. In many communities, if the Chamber doesn't support a candidate, he doesn't win."

"Canton under this administration does not intend to favor the Chamber more than any other group. If they feel they should have input, I suggest they run for office. Any person in this township has the right to offer input at an open board meeting."

Ordinances approved and proposed by township officials are needed to protect the people, Greenstein maintains.

"It's true the board has passed a good number of these ordinances, and I plan to continue proposing them. I ran on a platform to look out for the people and, by God, that's what I plan to do."

"I think all the ordinances we've introduced have been studied very carefully. People don't see the weeks it takes to propose the ordinance. Berg would have people believe we make these things up an hour before the meeting."

NOTING THE string of consumer protection ordinances passed and proposed, Berg noted the absence of merchant protection ordinances that have passed over the board table.

"Board members aren't in business, so they don't know the problems of business. What laws have they passed to protect the merchant? There's no protection that way. It looks rather lop-sided."

Referring to a recently approved ordinance banning self-service gasoline stations, Berg said: "Are self-service gas stations good or bad? Who knows? I think Canton Township is depriving residents of a five-cent lower price per gallon of gasoline."

Greenstein said the interests of businessmen and residents sometimes differ.

"I can't see any reason why businessmen should run this township. Certainly the Chamber shouldn't be in a better position than a taxpayer."

Officials prepare new apartment law

CANTON—A new township ordinance designed to regulate the occupancy and condition of apartment buildings, may soon be on the books.

According to Supervisor Robert Greenstein, the board of trustees will probably discuss the apartment ordinance at its Tuesday meeting. Trustees Gerald Cheske and Robert Myers have been studying apartment ordinances for weeks.

A TOWNSHIP apartment ordinance would probably contain inspection provisions under which township officials would inspect all units before they are occupied by new tenants.

"I think it's about time that this township get an apartment ordinance to inspect each apartment before it is leased," the supervisor said. "I think we need this kind of ordinance badly."

Residents of numerous apartment complexes in the area have complained about groups of people living in their buildings, Greenstein said. "As the rentals in apartments become scarce, owners rent apartments to larger families than the apartments can handle and to groups of people in order to make ends meet. All these kinds of things have to be checked out."

GREENSTEIN suspects building violations at some apartment complexes.

Township ordinance officer Bruce Phillips recently inspected Deer Creek Apartments because of a flood.

Local officials will get all wet in charity drive

CANTON—Four local officials will be the targets of residents' throwing arms this month, when they sit in a dunking tank to raise muscular dystrophy funds.

Canton Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein and trustees Brian Schwall, Gerald Cheske and Robert Myers have volunteered to sit on the wet seat, during a township home-owner association's picnic as well as Tom Yack, treasurer of the Plymouth Community school board.

"I'll sit there until I catch pneumonia or people get tired of throwing balls," said Greenstein. "I'm going to bring my kids, so they can see their daddy get all wet. It's all in the spirit of fun, and it's a good cause."

Residents will pay 25 cents for a chance to hit the target that will open a trap door and plunge officials into a tub of water. Proceeds are earmarked for muscular dystrophy research funds.

ing problem and found "all kinds of dangerous things that are hazardous to life," Greenstein said, including deficiencies in the electrical system.

Martin Kopitz, co-owner and manager of Deer Creek called the township's allegations "a bunch of junk," and said some newer apartment buildings were inspected about six months ago.

"We've had absolutely no violations written," Kopitz said.

Telephone calls about poor sanitary conditions have come from residents of many apartment complexes, Greenstein said.

"We have found some apartment owners are very cooperative and some are horribly uncooperative. If we have to go to war with these people, we will."

Daniels served two years in the U.S. Army from 1966-68 as an information specialist and editor of the newspaper for a missile brigade. He was awarded the Army commendation medal for outstanding meritorious service.

In 1968 he returned to Observer Newspapers and worked the first summer as an assistant on the central copy desk in the Plymouth office.

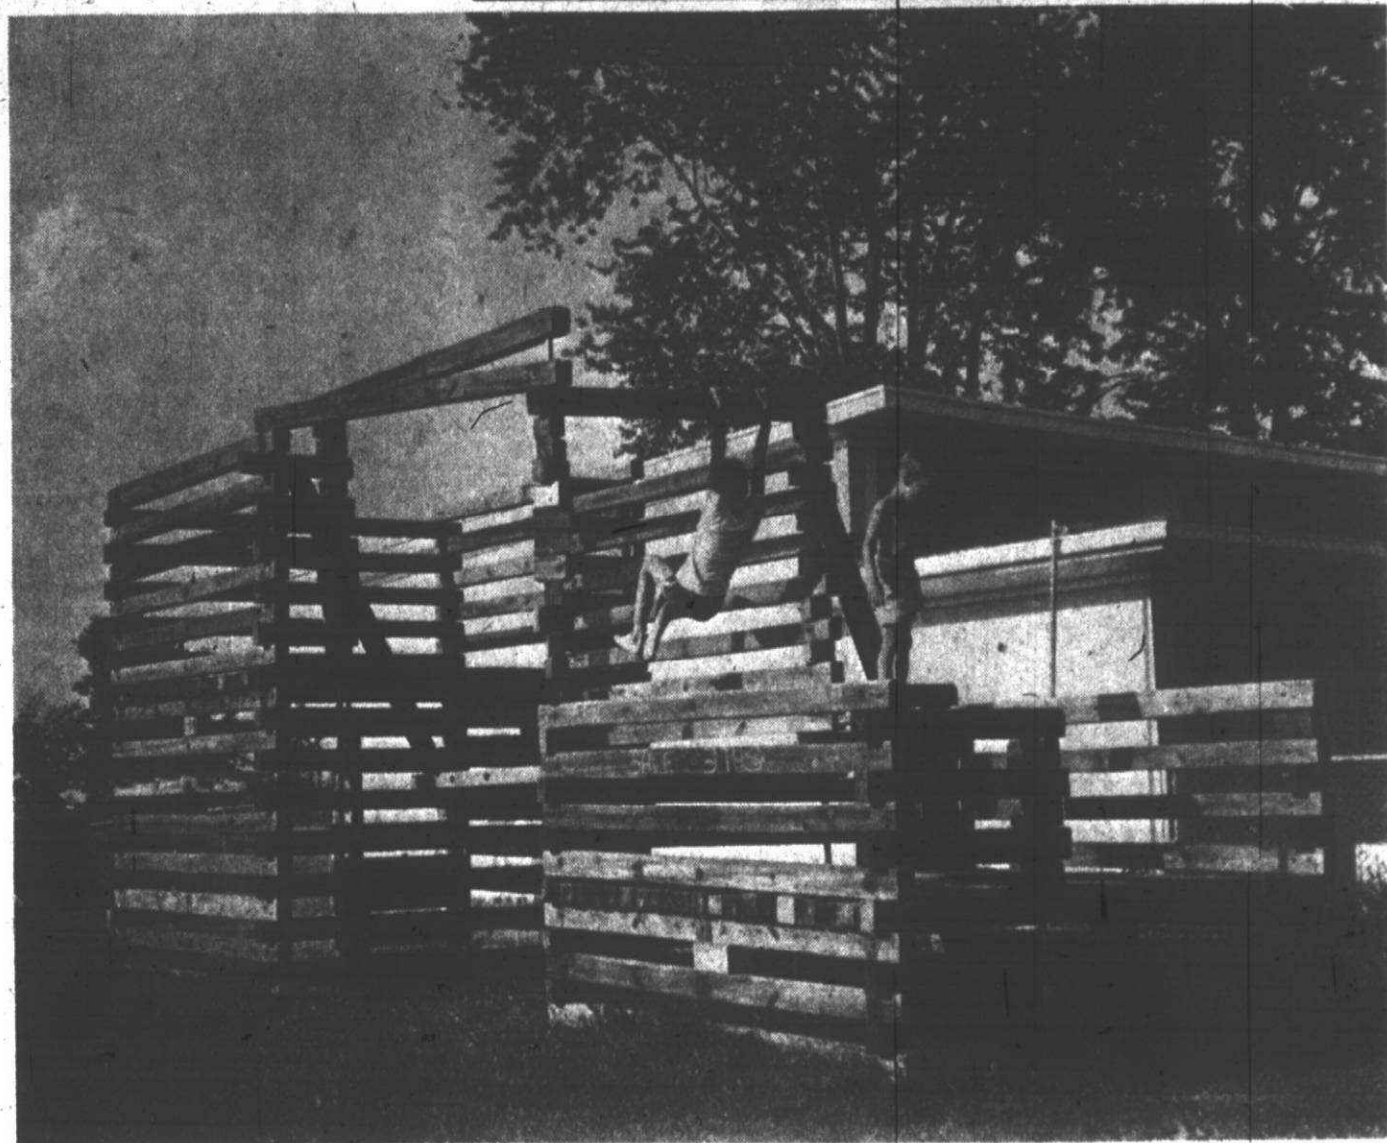

He served a stint as Garden City editor before accepting the Farmington assignment. After leaving Farmington, Daniels served as editor of the Southfield News & Observer — a city which incorporated 10 years ago after construction of Northland Center there.

For the past year, he has worked on the central copy desk in Livonia with responsibility for news coverage of an area-wide basis, such as Wayne County Community College, Schoolcraft College, Wayne County Board of Commissioners, 15th Congressional District, state legislative beats and business news.

As a local editor, Daniels has won national and state awards for general excellence, community service and news reporting.

"I am pleased to accept the challenge of being editor of the Canton Observer & Eccentric," said Daniels. "I, like many of you, can remember when Canton Township was farmland without any identity. It certainly isn't the Canton I knew in my teen years but is an exciting area."

"I expect to put together a newspaper which meets the needs of Canton residents and hope they will join with me in this task. Your ideas and suggestions are always welcome so please stop in our office at 461 S. Main, Plymouth, and meet our staff."

THE STOCKADE built by dads of children attending Truesdell School is enjoyed by neighborhood youngsters during the summer months, as well as being a good source of exercise for kindergartners when school is operating. (Staff photo)

Dads build stockade for Truesdell playground

CANTON—For the 106 children who attended Truesdell School on Haggerty Road, the new stockade was one of the greatest events of their kindergarten year.

When it was built, shortly before summer vacation, teachers Rosetta Maddick and Pat Trout had to work out a shift arrangement because everyone wanted to play on it at once. During the holidays it has become a favorite play spot for neighborhood youngsters.

The stockade is the result of a neighborhood effort that was several months in the planning but took only one day to build.

Truesdell is a two-room school which houses four kindergarten classes—two in the morning and two in the afternoon. Built in 1952 and annexed by the Plymouth School District in 1955, it lacked the playground equipment newer schools in the district possessed. The stockade at Fiegel Elementary School was almost a source of envy, and there were no school funds available to build one at Truesdell.

MRS. MADDICK asked the Mothers' Club if they would be interested in a stockade as a project and they decided to look into costs.

After shopping around, they discovered it was beyond their budget possibilities. With shipping charges included, it would cost almost $4,000.

After examining Fiegel's stockade, Chuck St. John decided they could build their own.

"I was working about 16 hours a day then," said St. John, "so I had to do all my measuring at Fiegel after dark. I was wondering when a police car would stop and ask if I liked to play with kids' toys."

The plans were drawn up. The Mothers' Club held a big rummage sale at the school to raise funds to buy the lumber.

They bought cross ties, the type used on electric poles.

"IT WAS LIKE building with Lincoln Logs," said St. John.

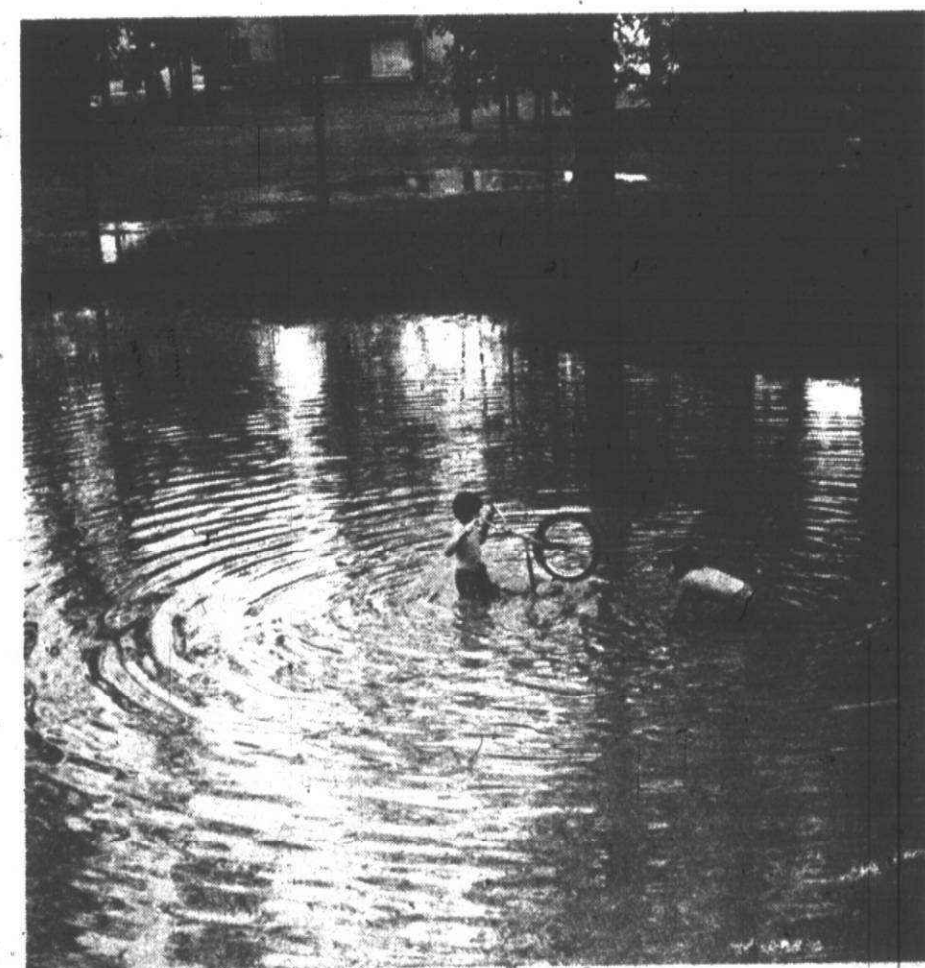

"We piled them two on two, then ran pipes down through the holes to anchor them."

He estimates it took about 50 man hours of work on a Saturday to assemble the stockade. Tim Brown, Dale Burkett, Bill Meiselbach, Jack Hirschauer, Martin Cygan, Jim Maddick and Herb Trout aided in the construction.

Jane Brown and other members of the Mothers' Club supplied a chuckwagon lunch and other refreshments during the day.

Total cost of the project was $375. Some of the mothers sanded off the rough spots so small hands and knees would not pick up splinters. The wood was treated with a moisture-resistant substance so no painting was necessary.

When the new elementary school is completed beside Truesdell the old school will be closed and the stockade moved to the new school grounds.

VFW chicken barbecue is after parade

Area residents watching Friday's Fourth of July Parade in Plymouth can take the family out to lunch afterwards at the VFW Mayflower Post 6695 on Mill Street near Ann Arbor Road.

The VFW will hold its annual chicken barbecue after the parade and will begin serving dinners inside at 1 p.m. Tables will be set up in the hall and outside.

Donation is $2.75 per adult and $1.75 for children under 12 years. Proceeds are used by the post for community groups and projects and to help needy persons.

The public is welcome, says Tony Russo, chairman of the barbecue. Last year some 430 meals were served and 500 chicken halves ordered. The lounge will be open.

The VFW hall is located on the west side of Mill Street just north of Ann Arbor Road.

Until a few months ago, flood insurance protection was not available to township residents. Canton, identified as a flood-hazard area by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, is now enrolled in a federally-subsidized flood insurance program.

Kopitz said the apartment management has not discussed the purchase of flood insurance.

State Easter Seal Society sues SEMTA and officials

Southeast Michigan Transit Authority (SEMTA) and a group of state and federal officials are being sued in Federal District Court in Detroit by the Easter Seal Society of Michigan.

The class action suit, to be heard July 22 by Judge Damon J. Keith, asks that SEMTA be stopped from ordering $40 million worth of new buses not equipped to handle wheelchairs.

Some of the others joining the suit are: Garden City, Detroit and Michigan division of the National Association for the Physically Handicapped; Michigan Paralyzed Veterans of America; Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars; and American Legion.

"FEDERAL LAW, the Urban Mass Transit Act of 1964 and subsequent related acts, requires that all public transportation that involves federal funding must be usable by the physically handicapped," said Dean E. Lidgard, president of the Easter Seal Society of Michigan.

"Unfortunately, the law is not self-executing. SEMTA plans to order $40 million worth of new buses that would contravene the law because they would have no provision for people who must use wheelchairs, for instance. By what license or logic do bureaucrats think that the rights of physically handicapped adults, veterans and crippled children can be ignored?" said Lidgard.

"IT IS TIME to put an end to the medieval practice of hiding state and federal bureaucrats, as in the SEMTA case," Lidgard explained.

The aim of the suit is to insist that the law with respect to physically handicapped persons be honored, not broken, by local and sometimes virtually imprisoning handicapped citizens," said Sheldon Wachler, an attorney on the case.

Others named as defendants in the suit are: U.S. Secretary of Transportation William Coleman; Frank G. Herlinger, Urban Mass Transit administrator; Arthur F. Sampson, General Services Administration chief; Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation (DHT); John T. Woodford, DHT director; Conrad Mallett, Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) chairman; Michael Glusac, SEMCOG executive director; Mattie J. Myers, SEMTA chairman; K. Ross Childs, SEMTA general manager; and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

Golfer hits hole-in-one

PLYMOUTH—A resident has marked her place in history at the Fox Hills Country Club in Salem Township with a hole-in-one at the course's fourth hole.

Ellen Person, 11821 Priscilla Lane, sunk the 175-yard shot at the par-three hole for the first time in the course's history.

"That's the first one we know of on that hole from our records," said golf course manager Sandy Mateja. "The course is 50 years old."

Mrs. Person, who golfs every week with a woman's golf league, will receive a hole-in-one trophy from a sports equipment manufacturer.

"I was so excited," said the local golfer. "The ball went straight for the cup, landed about two feet in front of the hole and slowly rolled in. It was really a beautiful shot."

Mrs. Person, who carries a 13 handicap, averages scores in the low 50s for pine-hole games.

The entertainment was "A Floor Show on Strings" presented by Harold Ramm. The puppet show featured an old-time vaudeville revue on an elevated stage. Clowns, dancers and acrobats performed under Ramm's skilled hands.

Closing ceremony was conducted by Mathews who awarded the charters and Little Brave prizes. The dinner was prepared by the ladies of the church.

WCTU was a power in Plymouth

"Oh King Alcohol has gone, nevermore shall he return. For the power of evil shall never prevail. We have found in Prohibition there's a better, brighter way. Oh, the houses in the clearing tell the tale."

This chorus, from a song called "The House in the Clearing," was popular with many women in the community during the days when Plymouth possessed one of the most active chapters of the Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) in Wayne County.

Dr. Reynolds, who had organized numerous chapters in the east, came to Plymouth to organize the local chapter of the WCTU on May 13, 1877.

Two years later, the village was host to a countywide convention attended by white-ribboned delegates from four Wayne County chapters—Detroit, Wayne, Northville and Plymouth. They met here to form the first district union. The meeting place was the First Methodist Episcopal Church, the building that was destroyed in the fire of 1916 which also leveled the high school.

THE CONVENTION lasted two days.

Highlight of the first day was the address by Miss WCTU herself, Frances Willard, the corresponding secretary and later long-time president of the national organization. Miss Willard, educator and reformer, whose name is inseparably linked with prohibition, woman suffrage, and improved industrial codes for women, came here from Chicago to give the new organization a good start.

In November 1879, delegates from Plymouth attended a convention in Wayne, where the district constitution was adopted. Among the resolutions approved at that convention was one urging the State Agricultural Society to see that rules prohibiting the sale of liquor on the fairgrounds be enforced.

The society apparently had permitted liquor to be sold openly at the grounds during the 1878 and 1879 fairs. It continued to look the other way in 1880 when more than 40 saloons were opened on the first day of the fair.

One of the members of the organization committee for the first district convention was Mrs. James Voorhies, a long-time resident of Plymouth, who later served for 10 years as District president. Jennie Voorhies was the mother of Paul W. Voorhies, born in Plymouth in 1875, who was attorney general of the State of Michigan in 1931-33.

IN 1929, during the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the District Union, James Voorhies recalled that his mother used to send him out to distribute circulars about the WCTU events.

She said she preferred to have her son handle the job because other boys she employed hid the handbills under the board sidewalks instead of distributing them.

Voorhies also told how his mother had him memorize and recite a temperance poem called "Teetotal Boots." As a reward for his recitation of the poem, she bought him a pair of boots with red tops and brass toes. The boys in the neighborhood quickly dubbed him "Teetotal." This became shortened to "Total" and eventually to "Tote," a nick-name which the well-known attorney carried for a long time.

Other residents of Plymouth active during the first district convention were: Mrs. E. L. Beals, who served the district 35 years as treasurer; Mrs. Clara Frisbie, corresponding secretary for seven years; and Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, who served for two years as president and 25 years as recording secretary.

Mrs. Patterson later became the first woman justice of the peace in Michigan, as described elsewhere in this history.

When the district observed its 50th anniversary, Mrs. Patterson wrote a history of the organization which was published in the Plymouth Mail Feb. 22, 1929. In it, Judge Patterson described the activities of the WCTU in promoting temperance education. These included mass meetings, pledge signings, Bible readings, cottage prayer meetings, house-to-house visitation to those who imbibed, jail, prison and county house visiting and evangelistic services.

THE DISTRICT Union petitioned for years before succeeding in its efforts to have the sale of beer on Belle Isle prohibited.

But the WCTU did much more than labor against the evils of John Barleycorn. It secured the appointment of matrons in prisons; made illegal the sale of tobacco to minors; promoted the use of the flag on every school house; and lobbied for separate prisons for women.

"At the same time," wrote Judge Patterson, "the union never forgot that our ultimate aim was the prohibition of the liquor traffic and equal suffrage for women, until laws granting both were finally written into the state and national constitutions. During the last presidential campaign, all WCTU women used every effort to secure the election of a dry president."

The WCTU soon discovered that use of the courts and political clout were much more effective in achieving its purposes than mere exhortation. "Legal sassaion was far more effective than moral suasion," wrote Mrs. Patterson, "and therefore work was carried into legislative halls, until state and national prohibition was written into the constitutions."

On the national level, Miss Willard became one of the prime movers in the Prohibition Party.

OF THE 50 county conventions held between 1879 and 1929, Plymouth entertained eight of them. The only community which host more of the meetings was Detroit.

Of the four unions represented at the forming of the district in 1879, Plymouth was the only chapter that continued to exist and hold regular meetings during all of the 50 years. Plymouth was also the only union which maintained an active membership during all of that time.

Perhaps the people in Plymouth needed more reforming than was the case with residents of surrounding communities. At any rate, the chapter in Northville, in 1885, reported that while all dues were paid, and prayer meetings sustained, "yet the members were discouraged, as there was nothing to work for." Northville had no saloons.

When Mrs. Patterson gave up the office of recording secretary in 1928, her daughter, Mrs. Clara P. Todd, was elected her successor. She served for 30 years.

Mrs. Todd, who was 87 this June, recalls that in the early days to be considered one of the elite in Plymouth a woman had to be a member of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. After 1960, she says, the activities of the local chapter began to dwindle. Mrs. Todd believes the movement was "killed by social drinking."

editorial opinion

History in the remaking - a view by Boo Gorgon

Did you ever wonder how the American Revolution would have been described if modern broadcasters and columnists had covered it? Let's turn the time clock back 199 years and see how a 20th century analyst—we'll call him Boo Gorgon, though the name is purely mythical, of course—would have viewed the events of Philadelphia 1776 at the Boo Gorgon Rally and in his Boo Gorgon column in Publick Affairs:

THE CONTINENTAL Congress came up with some gimmickry about "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor" the other day, and the Publick Affairs editorial called it a "stirring and patriotic alarum."

Well, if that's Congress' "stirring and patriotic alarum," then all I can say is, "God save the colonies!"

The colonial people are fed up with gimmicks and gimmickry. They want straight talk from straight men, and I can give it to them.

The flamboyant first signer of that hokey declaration is none other than John Hancock, and you've heard me talk about him many times. He inherited £80,000 when he was 27, and he's been one of the wealthiest, most opulent of men ever since, so you know whose fortune and honor he's interested in.

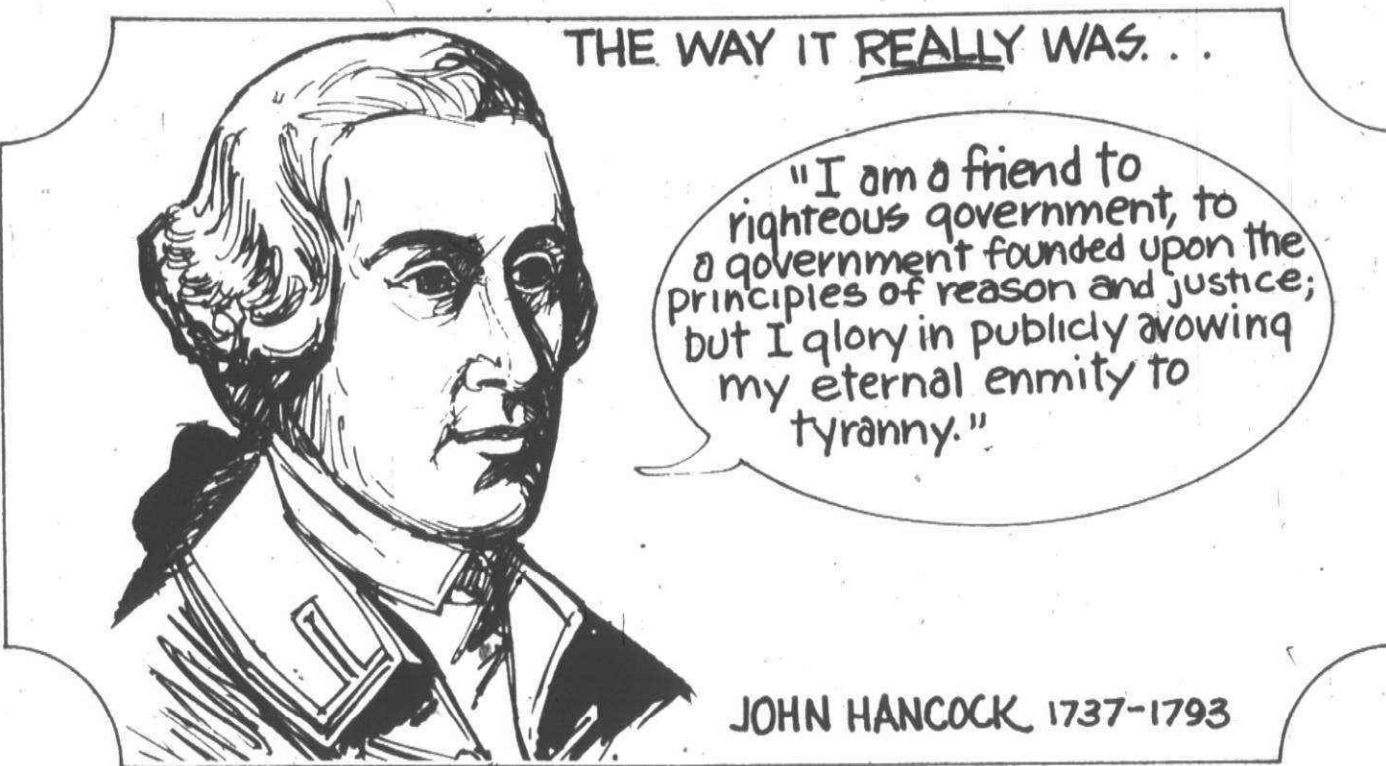

It is my firm conviction that Hancock has a lot to gain from a rebellion run at the small taxpayer's expense and which his gawky PR flack, Tom Jefferson, refers to as "this separation." Hancock is a merchant and into this new insurance thing. John Hancock would like nothing better than to eliminate insurance competition from Lloyd's of London through a rebellion, and then subject the average man to his mercantile rip-off.

Well, John Hancock is going to have to answer to ME, and he's going to have to answer to the colonial people if he thinks he can pull the wool over our eyes with this long-winded Declaration.

I've invited Mr. Hancock to appear at the Boo Gorgon Rally, where I would sit behind an authoritarian desk with a well-prepared list of accusations and he would sit out in the open, for a spontaneous and unrehearsed discussion. But he's always got an appointment in the ale house with Sam Adams or Ben Franklin. What's Mr. Hancock afraid of?

This gang of lawyers, merchants and plantation owners that sits in Congress doesn't care about the bellies of farmers and mechanics. Inflation is running rampant, and all the Continental Congress can do is come up with bombastic political declarations that take the Creator's name in vain.

What's Congress going to do about beef prices? Beef is up from L3 10s a barrel three months ago to L7 10s today.

Rum prices have risen 110 per cent since last winter. Mr. Jefferson and Col. Washington don't care because they like French wines.

And just the other day, a fishwife was telling my wife, Yucki, "The cry for pins is so great that what I used to buy for seven and sixpence are now 20 shillings—and not to be had for that!"

You won't find the editorial writers for Publick Affairs talking about those issues, and I know why: All 42 of the newspapers in this land are owned by Whigs, and there's not one—not a single one—that will give news to the colonial people straight.

The newspapers and pamphleteers failed in their sacred responsibility to the public last week when they didn't cover my rally at King William College. I talked about this with an editor of the London Times, and he told me his paper would have had that story on page one of all editions.

I predicted 13 years ago that if we got into a war with the French and Indians it would last seven years, at the same time our leaders were lying to us and saying there was light at the end of the blunderbuss barrel. And I predict right now, this rebellion could drag on for six years with a couple of more years for negotiations.

What those mercantile rip-off artists in Congress want is the dubious freedom to have factories here to make hats, textiles and wrought iron. Would you like a wrought iron factory next to your home? It would lower property values, but Josiah Quincy and the Adams gang wouldn't care...

WELL, THAT'S how it might have been covered. But this American prefers the way it actually came out.

A few rip off the rest of us on telephone service

Michigan Bell Telephone, in its recent request for a rate increase, asked that a charge of 20 cents per call be placed on all directory assistance or "information" calls in the home area code after the first three per month from any residential telephone.

The Bell system already has done this in Cincinnati, but the situation there is a little different because the entire listings of metropolitan Cincinnati appear in one telephone book.

We all know that in the Detroit area there are several zones, which all have their separate telephone directories and, apparently, there are 27 different directories to take care of all of the numbers in our area code 313.

THE TELEPHONE company would make an exception for people with visual, physical or mental limitations and are unable to use a telephone directory. However, the system is cumbersome, because a handicapped person might not always use the same phone.

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

We know that all of the utilities are looking for new sources of revenue to cover their increasing costs. At first glance Ma Bell's request looked like another gimmick to raise rates at the inconvenience of a lot of people.

ON CLOSER inspection, it seems that 10 per cent of the people make 60 per cent of the information calls, and more than 80 per cent of the information calls are for numbers that appear in the phone book. (Thirty per cent of Michigan Bell operators spend their time answering information calls.)

THE INFORMATION service will cost the telephone company $25 million this year, which all telephone users will have to share.

If those frequent users were deterred by being charged for their information calls, the telephone company estimates that $10 million a year could be saved, which means that each residential phone bill could be reduced, on the average, by $4 per year. The telephone company has represented to the state Public Service Commission that it will pass this saving on to its customers.

IF CINCINNATI can be used as an example, after the information charge was added only five per cent of the customers ended up using more than the three calls a month.

Thus, everyone's bill went down (or, more realistically, didn't go up as much) except for the frequent users of the information service.

When you realize that about $10 a year on the average is added to your phone bill to pay for the lazy people who won't pick up a phone book, you realize that this rate request makes sense. As a matter of fact, it makes me mad that these few people are ripping all of us off.

Hypertensive money-spenders

What's your idea of ways to stay healthy? I've often thought a healthy person is active, travels often, is intellectually sharp, and smokes less than most or not at all.

But a recent University of Michigan study has found that one segment of our population which lives this kind of life has a higher percentage of high blood pressure problems than the rest of us slobos.

The group studied has fewer smokers than the general population, takes frequent junks to the Caribbean Islands and elsewhere, and reads and debates vigorously. Although not great joggers, many run every two years.

Emory Daniels Writes...

But in spite of these healthy activities, some 40 per cent have hypertension and another 25 per cent have blood pressure counts higher than normal.

The group studied by the U-M researchers is our Michigan legislators. The only thing I can figure is they get hypertense from spending your money. My blood pressure rises from just spending my own, and I'm sure it would sprint upwards if I began tinkering with yours.

Moving: a great adventure

We just bought a new house. And in case you didn't realize it, home ownership is great. The only thing more exciting is root canal work.

You also learn a lot:

How to move a piano

Pianos are heavy (if you consider 2,000 pounds heavy). So when you want to move one into your basement, I recommend getting a piano dolly. Piano dollies are contraptions you stick under the piano to make moving easier.

Mobility is very helpful, unless you want to move the piano into your basement. In such cases, a fast moving piano becomes as much fun as an elephant stampede on a "down" escalator.

So when I wanted to move the piano, I rounded up four strong and not overly bright friends. (If they were smart, they never would have volunteered to help.)

We positioned the piano at the top of the stairs and slowly lowered it down. We expected it to break loose from our grip and go charging down the stairs like a poorly tuned avalanche. That didn't happen.

Instead, the piano got stuck. Very stuck. The top wedged itself into the beam that runs across the basement ceiling and the bottom dug itself into the steps.

So we tried to pull it back up. It didn't work. Then two of my friends decided that what wouldn't go up must come down.

They took a running leap and landed squarely on the back of the piano. Then the piano was really stuck.

Eventually, using hammers and a six-foot-long board, we rammed the top off the piano and the splintered remains of the $30 instrument slid to the floor.

The piano will stay in the basement now, forever.

How to fix a leak

Our house had four leaking faucets. I bought a plumbing book, written for amateurs, and went to work. I fixed three leaks but the fourth defied me.

The helpful man at the plumbing store told me I needed a new faucet. It was the only way, he said, to stop the drip if conventional means failed.

To install a new faucet, you must first remove the old one. I turned to my new book for help. "How to install a new faucet."

The first step in the 14-step procedure read: "First remove the old faucet." That was it.

So I tried to do just that. I tried all day Sunday. I swore so loudly I got calls of complaints from as far away as Cleveland.

Exasperated, I returned to the plumbing store. When I left an hour later, I had agreed to purchase a new faucet, a new sink and have a plumber install everything.

It was an expensive leak.

How to relax and enjoy yourself

Sell your house and move into a one-bedroom apartment.

Editor:

The student of history in general and of government in particular knows that the word democracy is taken from two Greek words, demos meaning people and kratos meaning rule.

Our nation's founding fathers obviously selected this word for its full meaning to denote their reasons for establishing a new nation, forever free of despots and oligarchies alike.

The Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the development and adoption of our Constitution, with its near-sacred Preamble, attests to all the world, the form and meaning of a government over which all the people shall preside.

The advent of the bicentennial celebration of our country's birth is upon us, and I can think of no more urgent needed or more meaningful tribute to all those who have pledged and sacrificed their lives and sacred honor to establish, preserve and maintain these priceless tenets of freedom than to have those now living advance whatever efforts and sacrifices that may be needed to restore the rights of a truly democratic government to the

Sports focus needs change

Editor:

I really don't think it's fair that all the high schools should get all the attention in the sports section of the Observer & Eccentric.

I think the junior highs should get just as much as the high schools, because the junior highs are what produce every one of the high school students in the first place.

So, I say give the junior high guys and girls as much attention as the high school guys and girls in the sports section of the paper. And that means pictures and full stories, and all year-round too.

LISA MUNROE,

people from whom it has been usurped by crooked, arrogant and unfeeling politicians and bureaucrats.

It is readily apparent that government, as we know it, has long since ceased to be a servant of the people and, by choice, has contemptuously turned its collective back on a once great principle of our democracy, as expressed by an equally great American statesman, Thomas Jefferson:

"Man is not made for the state but the state for man, and it derives its just powers only from the consent of the governed."

A contemporary citizen, Frank Serpico, bitterly stated: "The American dream has become a nightmare. I can no longer think the system can be changed by legal means. America is too corrupt."

If we, the people, possess the steadfast determination and clarity of purpose and be willing, again, to pledge to each other our lives and sacred honor, there may yet be time to prove Serpico wrong and America might well have a worthy and glorious birthday celebration within the full meaning of the word democracy."

Accusation is surprising

Editor:

I was surprised by a recent letter in your Readers' Forum which accused me of being paranoid. I don't mind when a person criticizes what I write, but when a person gets overwrought about things I didn't say, then I begin to doubt whether that person is capable of evaluating a complex issue like the Equal Rights Amendment in a calm, objective way.

The more reasonable goals of the women's liberation movement have already been mandated by a multitude of federal and state laws like the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the 1972 Equal Employment Opportunity Act, the 1974 education amendments, and the 1974 act dealing with equal credit opportunities for women.

ERA will add nothing to all of that. What the amendment will do, however, is invalidate all the good laws which benefit women, and achieve all the more unreasonable goals of the women's liberation movement.

Even my critic may be upset when future federal courts begin to hand down rulings that interpret the meaning of total equality in the unreasonable ways that have already been predicted by so many legal experts. Those of us who oppose the ERA believe that there are better ways to deal with the illegal phenomenon of sex discrimination, and we are delighted that so many state legislatures have had the good judgment to reject ERA in the past year.

Road stands use human touch

Editor:

I live as a neighbor in Redford Township and avail myself of the pleasures of Livonia.

It shocks me to learn of the cruel measures to eliminate the roadside stands of flowers and vegetables.

Where is the spirit of free enterprise? Are we all to fail to the pressure of big business? Will you let the shopping centers call the shots? Wipe out these little people we need?

There is a difference. These stands have well-cared-for plants and fresh vegetables. When one stops to buy there is a real, live human being to give planting advice and service. This is sadly lacking in large discount stores.

Will you take this last vestige of humanity from us?

School strike bill battle forming

By STEVE BARNABY

"It's a battle, not a compromise." That's the way one state senator described debate in the Senate Labor Committee over the school strike bill which is due to come to the floor for a vote within a week.

Three senators, a representative and a member of the governor's staff see it as one of the toughest political battles the state capital has seen in years.

Sitting on top of this powder keg is State Sen. David Plawecki (D-Deerborn Heights), labor committee chairman, whose district includes Crestwood School District, which still is in the middle of teacher labor strife.

Debate revolves around amending the bill to strengthen penalties to both teachers and school board members and to give courts a greater voice in calling for arbitration. Two amendments introduced by State Rep. Bill Keith (D-Garden City) were defeated before the bill was passed by the House. Keith was the chief sponsor of the bill in the House.

IN ITS PRESENT form, the bill allows teachers to strike up to five weeks, three without financial penalty. Keith's amendments would allow teachers to strike for only two weeks and would impose economic penalties on both teachers and school district during that time.

"This labor committee is really split. There is no telling what will happen," says Plawecki. "One problem is that every member has amendments of their own that they want considered."

Adding to the stress is a recent announcement by Gov. William Milliken that he will veto the bill if some amendments aren't adopted.

Plawecki says he has been contacted by hundreds of his constituents urging him to vote one way or the other. The Crestwood Board of Education recently adopted a resolution urging him to vote against the bill if amendments aren't adopted.

With widespread support from labor factions, Plawecki admits he is in a tough spot, but says he will vote on a bill which he feels best benefits students.

Labor unions have come out against imposing stricter penalties on striking teachers. Recently, the Michigan Education Association (MEA) announced it was sending notice to its 535 local teacher bargaining units that where contracts haven't been completed further bargaining "is probably a waste of time."

MEA Executive Secretary Herman Coleman said politics of the current strike law had reached crisis proportions.

"The governor's announcement of possibly vetoing the Democrats' proposed teacher strike bill is only the most recent example of school complications."

Plawecki says committee members' views range from having more consequences dealt out to teachers and school boards alike, to having the bill reported to the floor without any changes. He would like to see some changes made and has made proposals on his own which are similar to Keith's.

"If the governor vetoes the bill, then I see no point in not going along with it. Any bill would be better than what is on the books right now," he says.

Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), whose district includes Livonia and Redford Township, is taking a wait-and-see attitude on the bill and thinks the governor should do the same.

"The governor hasn't seen a Senate version of the bill. He is speaking in regard to the house bill. The Senate could come out with something to which he may not object," says Pursell.

"Actually, I don't care too much whether the governor wants to veto the bill or not. I'll vote the way I think is best for Michigan residents."

Pursell says the penalty area of the bill should be clarified, but says the present law is fine with him. School teachers strikes are illegal under existing law.

"Overall we've had very few strikes under the terms of how police and firemen work," he says.

A HOPEFUL note to the bill, he says, is that it has a June 1977 expiration date. If the bill does pass, legislators will have a chance to see how it works and be able to make changes upon expiration, he says.

Sen. William Faust (D-Westland), whose district includes Garden City and Canton Township, says he has been a proponent of teachers' right to strike for many years; but would like to see penalties levied on both sides.

"I felt the penalty sections were better under the Keith amendments, rather than a three week free strike. I think both sides should face economic consequences," he says.

He would like to see the courts take a less active role.

Allowing the courts to consider binding arbitration is more acceptable than being able to give a court order," he says.

If the bill is sent to the Senate floor without amendments, Faust believes amendments will be proposed outside committee. He would move for separate votes on each amendment.

Milliken's education advisor, Jim

Phelps, says the governor feels the bill in its present form encourages teachers to strike!

"As the bill is now, we would be having free strikes. There must be economic sanctions from the beginning to give both sides motivation to negotiate," says Phelps. "Without these it becomes a political strike."

The bill, says Phelps, should spell out what the courts can do. As written, he says, it gives courts the option of whether to call for binding arbitration.

"Without these sanctions, negotiations become a matter of who can call who nasty names," he says. "It becomes a face saving thing with the unions telling their members they have nothing to lose and the boards saying they shouldn't give in until teachers do suffer penalties."

Milliken said an agreement had been reached with leaders of both houses and parties that the Keith amendments be supported, but that "strong" pressure from special interest groups defeated the amendments.

"THE PUBLIC wants legislation that discourages strikes from taking place rather than legislation which may bring a strike to a close by court order only after five weeks. Instead of responding to the public interest and the public will, this bill surrenders to the special interests that wrote it," says Milliken.

THE COMPOSITE PHOTO of the Plymouth High Class of 1935 attracts the attention of its president and secretary, now Mr. and Mrs. Darold Cline. (Photos by Doug Johnson)

'You haven't changed a bit'

By MARGARET MILLER

Forty years had passed since Darold Cline of Livonia and Thelma Langford Ellwanger of San Jose, Calif., had met.

Make that 41. Mrs. Ellwanger had left Plymouth High School a year before her class of 1935 graduated.

ALVAH ELZERMAN

But there was no slowness of recognition when they greeted each other at the 40-year reunion party for that class Saturday.

"We went to J-Hop," remembered Mrs. Ellwanger.

"So we did," came back Cline. "Your dress was red velvet."

If the California visitor was amazed at Cline's recollection, it came as no surprise to others at the party.

Cline, who was president of that class of '35, has been keeping track of its members ever since.

"WE'VE BEEN having reunions every five years since the 20th," he said. "There were 87 in the class, and seven have passed away. This year there are 41 class members here—67 people altogether. Just over 50 per cent."

And that wasn't surprising to Cline as he viewed the jovial gathering and heard the hearty greetings.

This class really was like no other, he emphasized.

"From the time all of us met as freshmen, ours was always the class with the most spirit, the best attendance at meetings and rallies, the best support of sports."

"It was always that way. And look—even after 40 years we still go all out for something like this."

LETTING A GLANCE rove over the prosperous-looking crowd, you might remember with a start that this was a class that graduated during the depression.

The speaker for the dinner gathering, Cline said, would be Al Elzerman, who had come from Florida and is president of the Stanley Product Corp.

Elzerman is married to another class member, Yvonne Hearn. Cline went on, and they have come together to other reunions. "But Yvonne had serious surgery recently and couldn't make this one," he added. "I talked to her, though, and she was really sorry to miss it."

What was Elzerman going to say to his fellow graduates of two-score years ago?

"The United States and private enterprise and what a fine country we have," he said. "And how you can decide what you want and what is important and achieve your goals."

ALSO PART of the reunion evening were movies taken of the last two reunions and some filming of the 40-year gala.

An attractive lady handed Cline a small folder of notes, and he introduced his wife, Peggy. Then someone joked about his having an efficient secretary.

"She really is," he said. "Secretary of the class."

Also present at the gathering, he said, was Jean Jolliffe Champe, of Livonia, who had been treasurer back in high school. The vice president, Arnold Ash, had been to other reunions but couldn't make it this time.

Other members who have been active in arranging reunions were introduced by Cline. There were Lola Mae Barlow Schueder of Plymouth and Robert and Barbara (Hix) Soth of Plymouth and Fred Johnson of Plymouth and Marian VanAmberg Kehrl of Northville.

"It's interesting how many of us have stayed right here in this area," Cline said. "But even some of the ones who move far away manage to get back."

ELMER WIELAND, engineering supervisor for the city of Fort Myers in Florida, said he'd flown up just for the weekend with his wife, the former Carol Hammond, class of '35.

The partyers gathered around two blown-up photos, one a composite of the graduating class and another of a bunch of third-graders. "About 30 of us were together all the way from kindergarten to 12th grade," Cline said.

Fred Johnson and Harold Williams, both of Plymouth, checked their waistlines and corporations. "He's Froggy and I'm Heels," said Williams, without elaborating on the youthful nicknames.

A lady newly-arrived paused to put on her nametag. "I was looking at the list to see who I'd recognize," she said. "I remember most."

That's how it was with the class of '35. Still is, apparently.

GREETING EACH OTHER at a 40-year reunion party are Mabel Ritchie Brown of Chelsea and Barbara Soth of Plymouth.

FRED JOHNSON (left) and Harold Williams, both of Plymouth, thought it was a great party.

LOLA MAE BARLOW SCHUEDER of Plymouth pinned a name tag on Al Brown.

Flag business flying high for Bicentennial

GRACE HAY and two of her best-sellers, the Bicentennial flag and the Bennington flag. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker)

By MARGARET MILLER

In this year of a slowed economy, one Livonia business is booming so much that its head may not be able to take time out to celebrate Independence Day.

That's a bit ironic, actually, because Grace Hay's business is American flags.

She handles orders for all kinds of flags—historic ones, Bicentennial ones, huge banners, small table flags—and from all kinds of purchasers—individuals, businesses, schools, cities, Bicentennial commissions.

In fact, the business that started as a spare-time mail order operation dealing in early American accessories now involves only flags and is the major occupation for this Livonia businesswoman.

Orders are coming in at least a dozen a day just now, Mrs. Hay said, and the business is doubling or tripling every month. She has to figure this pace could well keep up through 1976, the Bicentennial year.

"I KEEP THINKING I should have been more prepared," she said, "but then in my dealings with the companies that make these official flags, I realize they are weeks behind in their orders, and they've increased production greatly."

The most wanted items on the flag scene just now, Mrs. Hay said, are the Bicentennial flag, with its white field and five-pointed official Bicentennial emblem, and the Bennington flag, the oldest Stars and Stripes in existence.

flying the various U.S. flags she sells and the Bicentennial banner.

"It's legal to fly any flag you want, and there have been 27 different United States flags as the number of stars increased from 13 to 50," she said.

"But the 50-star flag is the official one today, so it should be in the position of honor, above any other banner and with any others on its right."

The Bicentennial flag, she added, may be used by any organization, company, corporation or individual located in a Bicentennial Community, a designation recently given Livonia and other cities in this area.

To explain flag protocol and elaborate on flag history, Mrs. Hay makes frequent appearances before clubs, classes or organizations.

HER BUSINESS, called Collector's World, has supplied flags for celebrations all over the nation as the Bicentennial interest increases.

One recent consignment of 11 historic flags went to Fort Benning, Ga., where there was a celebration of the 200th birthday of the U.S. Army.

During the Bicentennial enthusiasm, distribution of flags gives this Livonian a great deal of satisfaction.

"Many Bicentennial souvenirs now coming on the market are in poor taste, worthless and expensive," she said.

"But you can always fly a flag with pride."

AAUW wins grant for heritage tape

A $400 grant awarded the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women will be used to finance production costs for the branch's videotape, "Heritage, Happenings, Hopes—A Plymouth-Canton Bicentennial Salute."

The grant was made by the AAUW Educational Foundation at the association's national convention in Seattle.

The 30-minute videotape, which is endorsed by the Plymouth Community Bicentennial Commission, will be "a visual portrait of a growing community united by a historical consciousness," said Mrs. Peggy Fisher, AAUW chairman.

It will first be presented to the public in the Dunning Hough Library during the 1975 Fall Festival and will be available to schools and civic groups during the remainder of 1975 and throughout 1976.

WORK ON THE TAPE began last winter and is currently in the final editing stages, with all video and film footage complete.

AAUW is working closely with the students and television staff of Plymouth-Salem High School, utilizing the school's television facilities for production.

Plymouth was one of 29 AAUW branches in the U.S. receiving grants for public service projects in keeping with the nation's emphasis on the renewal and revitalization of the values of the American Revolution.

THE AAUW media committee applied for the public service grant last March when they realized that their plans for a bicentennial videotape could meet grant requirements.

At the same time they submitted the tape project for a Michigan AAUW action project grant to be given for action projects growing out of branch committee study.

Since plans for the tape evolved from the media committee's study of potential community programs for local Cable TV, the project qualified in this category, too. The branch received a $100 grant in April from the Michigan AAUW.

Thimm-Burroughs

He directs the movement at Bowling Green University, and after their Sept. 6 wedding they plan to live in the Ohio city.

Pankows wed 45 years

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pankow of Plymouth recently celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary at a party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Goode of Livonia. Mrs. Goode is their daughter.

Attending the party were Brad and Barry Goode, grandsons of the couple, Helen Sachs and Mr. and Mrs. William Staman. Mrs. Sachs was maid of honor at the Pankow's wedding. Staman was best man.

"I found that the overall prices were lower in the shopping I did at Chatham."

Mrs. Matilda Bishop, Retail store department manager, Birmingham. Four in household. Average weekly food bill: $80-$120

Mrs. Bishop took the Chatham Challenge. She did her weekly shopping at Chatham, then bought the same or comparable brands and items at a competitive market of her choice.

"Really, I do feel that what we experienced proved that the overall cost is lower (at Chatham) and that's where I'll shop."

By saving on her weekly food bill at Chatham, Mrs. Bishop confirmed the results of a recent 8-week price survey* sponsored by Chatham: Week in, week out, your total weekly food bill should be less at Chatham.

The experts* proved it. Housewives like Mrs. Bishop proved it. Now it's your turn.

Women taking part in the Chatham Challenge were selected at random by National Marketing Surveys. These women provided their own shopping lists. Shopping was done June 11 through June 15, 1975. Testing supervised by National Marketing Surveys, 127 Townsend St., Midland, Michigan 48640.

Berry all-stars go against Legion tonight

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor

The Livonia Berry League will begin a two-day all-star fest at Livonia's Ford Field today when it pits its best players against the all-stars from the downriver American Legion League.

The all-star activity will conclude with an Independence Day clash between area Adray League players and Detroit Adray stars.

The Berry League team will be coached by Churchill High School baseball coach Roger Frayer who admits his team will go into the game as an underdog.

"Their age limit is one year more than ours so we'll be seeing some more experienced kids. Also our lack of team speed may hurt us," Frayer said.

FRAYER ALSO INDICATED that the American Legion teams have not seen a great number of left-handed pitchers and the fact that there are three southpaws on the Berry team might help.

In fact, the strength of the team overall will be in its pitching staff with six good hurlers on tap.

Game time at the Ford Field, located just west of Farmington and just north of Schoolcraft, is 7:30 p.m.

Here's a position by position breakdown of the Berry League all-stars.

CATCHERS: Berry Blue's Jerry Pollard gets the starting nod behind the plate. Currently hitting .375 for Blue, Pollard is a solid fundamental catcher and hits for power to all fields. Tom Pacion and Greg Armstrong are in reserve. Pacion was a two-year varsity performer at Livonia Stevenson and is currently behind the mask for the Yankees. Armstrong is the RBI and stolen base leader for Choo-Choo Car Wash and is hitting at a .363 clip.

FIRST BASE: Redford Appliance's George Willard took first team honors at first base. At 6-1, 195, Willard has the strength to be a home-run threat every time up. Tom DePriest will back up Willard. DePriest is currently hitting .383 for the Yankees and is noted for his fine defensive play.

SECOND BASE: The first team second baseman for the Berry League is Berry Red's Ron Griffin. Griffin was the MVP as a junior on last year's Livonia Churchill High School team where he batted .380 and made only two errors. Currently batting .369 for Red, Griffin turns the double play as well as anyone. Steve Serafa of DMIC backs up Griffin. Serafa, a Livonia Bentley student, has good range and is currently averaging .294 for DMIC.

THIRD BASE: Getting the starting assignment at third base is Pat Ruvalo of Michigan National Bank. Ruvalo who pitches as well as playing infield for MNB, will lead off for the Berry stars. A spray hitter, Ruvalo has the arm to handle the long throws from third. Brian Wolcott of the Plymouth Elks will back up Ruvalo at third. Wolcott was the starting shortstop for the Plymouth Salem state championship high school team and is currently batting at a .350 pace for the Elks.

SHORTSTOP: Rob Rose of Michigan National Bank is the first team shortstop. Rose will return to Livonia Stevenson High School next year where he will be among the area's top infielders. With good range and a quick bat, Rose was an all-conference selection as a junior at Stevenson. B.J. Lajoie is sure fire material for next year's major league draft when he graduates from Livonia Churchill. Lajoie is currently batting .357 for Berry Red.

OUTFIELD: The starting trio in the outfield for the Berry team will be Doug Tripp of the Plymouth Elks, Brian Butcher of Crowe Realty and Tim Murphy of Michigan National Bank. Tripp batted .340 for state champions Plymouth Salem and is currently hitting at a .400 clip. Tripp also plays in the Adray League. Butcher is batting .306 for Crowe and is leading the team in RBIs. He has not struck out in seven games for the club this year. Murphy was an all-conference performer at Stevenson High School as a junior and hits with power to all fields. Jim Hill, currently batting .333 for Fishetti Floors, Mark Ward of the Redford Panthers and

Mike Sergisson of Livonia Optimist is an all-around standout who hit .400 for Thurston High School and works with tremendous control on the mound. Fisher mixes up three pitches and also is noted for his control. Bobowski, a Livonia Churchill product, is a hard throwing southpaw. Kolis has been Livonia Stevenson's top hurler for two years and returns for a third campaign next season. Willette could pitch for any amateur team in the state and will probably finish up against the legion stars.

PITCHERS: Getting the starting nod for the Berry team will be Warren Wallis of Lucky Lindy's. Wallis, who also plays outfield, is among the top hurlers in the area and is currently hitting .450. Relievers will include Randy Rodriguez of Thurston, Mickey Fisher of Berry Blue, Tom Willette of Plymouth Elks, John Kolis of Michigan National Bank and Dan Bobowski of Lucky Lindy's. Rodriguez is an all-around standout who hit .400 for Thurston High School and works with tremendous control on the mound. Fisher mixes up three pitches and also is noted for his control. Bobowski, a Livonia Churchill product, is a hard throwing southpaw. Kolis has been Livonia Stevenson's top hurler for two years and returns for a third campaign next season. Willette could pitch for any amateur team in the state and will probably finish up against the legion stars.

Westland ace throws no-hitter, team splits

Bill Redwood of Westland Burger King will not be on the squad Friday when the Livonia League Adray all-stars face off against the Detroit Adray all-stars, but the 19-year-old Detroit Cody High School product proved that he could pitch with the best in the league Sunday when he faced just 23 men as he collected his first Adray no-hitter in Westland's 3-0 victory over Livonia Griffin.

"My fastball and curve were working really well. That's the best I've ever pitched," said Redwood after he had raised his record to 2-1 and lowered his ERA to 1.47.

Griffin won the first game of the twin bill 4-1.

But Redwood was the story of the day as he walked two and struck out two and made his team's only error of the day.

"It was one of those game's that was beautiful. Everything went right for us. Whenever they hit the ball hard it was right at someone," said Burger King coach George Yakel. The closest Griffin got to a hit in the game was in the second inning when Mark Temby hit a ground ball in the hole between third and shortstop.

Westland shortstop Jeff Hodgkins scooped it up and got Temby by a step and it was all Redwood after that.

"I wasn't really nervous and I kept good control all the way," said Redwood who plays for Henry Ford Community College in the spring.

Westland scored its three runs in three different innings.

In the second, Ken Robinson was hit by a pitch and Ron Vanderlinden, who went two-for-three, advanced him with a single. Redwood then drove in the only run he would need with a sharp basehit.

Griffin got its first baserunner in the third on a walk but could do no more.

In the bottom of the third, Bob Ganzak and Jeff Hodgkins both walked and Robinson singled to produce a second run.

Redwood committed his error to give Griffin its second runner in the fourth but bore down to stay out of trouble.

Westland finished the scoring in the fifth when Ganzak and Jeff Hodgkins both doubled. For Hodgkins, the hit gave him 12 RBIs in the last four games and upped his average to .309.

Griffin received another walk in the sixth but a Westland double play erased the runner.

Bob Sabourn took the loss for Griffin.

In the opening game, Rich Gaber and Dave Panzoff combined to give Griffin a 4-1 victory.

All the Griffin runs were unearned and all came in the first inning. After Tim Livesay and B.J. Lajoie had walked, The Westland outfield proceeded to drop two routine flyballs off the bats of Venius Jordan and Mike Wilson to score three runs.

Mark Temby's infield single scored the other.

Westland scored its only run in the seventh when Ron Vanderlinden walked and Mark Walsh and Bob Ganzak both singled.

Each team had five hits in the contest and Rolland Morenci took the loss for Burger King.

REDFORD — BIDWELL

Redford Adray swept a pair of games from Plymouth Bidwell Sunday, taking the opener 5-3 and winning the second game 3-1.

Redford survived four errors in the first three innings and five for the day in the first game. Bob Lewandowski took the victory, raising his record to 2-0.

In the Plymouth first Ron Downing and Chris Martucci singled and moved up on an error. Downing scored on another error off the bat of Dave Best.

Redford threatened in its third but had runners thrown out at home and third base.

In the Redford fourth, Bob Wasiletski and John Broder were safe on errors and Gary D'Ascenzo was hit by a pitch.

Dan Burke walked to force in one and Kevin Bara then broke things open with a double. John Roy added a single to put Redford up 5-1.

Plymouth got two back in the seventh when Doug Tripp singled and Keith Randazzo walked. Redford brought in Ken McLean who got one out and then walked Chris Martucci. Mark Silverstein came on for McLean and was promptly touched for a double before getting Best to line into a double play to end things.

In the second game, Kevin Bara walked two and struck out eight to lead Redford to a 3-1 victory.

The theme will be one of vengeance when the Livonia Adray League all-stars take the field Friday against the Detroit Adray stars in an effort to move ahead in an annual series deadlocked at two wins apiece.

"They beat us last year at Tiger Stadium and we'll be thinking about that," said Bob Atkins who will lead the local team in the contest to be played starting at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Livonia's Ford Field.

"In a game like this we have the talent to win and although I'm going to play everyone, we'll be out there with an attitude to win the game," said Atkins.

Such amateur standouts as NCAA region champions Eastern Michigan University players first baseman Kevin Sabol, pitcher Bob Miller and outfielder John Schmelling will highlight the Detroit roster. Also, two standouts from Penn State's regional championship team, outfielder Kevin Maronic and pitcher Jim Farr, will compete for Detroit.

Other Detroit all-stars will include Detroit Tiger draftee Steve Morrison, University of Michigan freshman Mike Parker, third team all Big Ten catcher Ted Mayhan and high school standouts Matt Hays of Warren Fitzgerald and Whitt Boyd of Grosse Pointe University School.

Coaching the Detroit team will be Roger Loryell, who took his team, Adray Photo, to last year's AAABA national championship in Johnstown, Pa.

Despite the credentials of the opposition, Atkins maintains that his team will be representative.

"I'm not saying we're going to win. Winning the game is not the most important thing. But everyone will play and we have a lot of talent. We certainly could win," he said.

Here's a rundown on the Livonia League all-stars who will

CATCHERS: John Broder of Redford gets the first team nod. The third year all-star is currently hitting .315 for the second place Adray team. Venius Jordan of Livonia Griffin backs up Broder. Jordan is a team leader who is batting .310 and is a good defensive receiver.

FIRST BASE: With a solid .395 batting average, Ron Paulos gets the starting assignment at first base. The 6-3, 215-pound Garden City team leader has the power to put it out on any pitch. Mark Yourchock of Redford Adray and the University of Detroit backs up Broder. The left-handed Yourchock is batting .330 for Redford.

SECOND BASE: At 5-8, 160, Keith Randazzo of Plymouth Bidwell is one of the smallest players on the team. But he makes up with his glove what he lacks in size. One of the area's best defensive second basemen, the Plymouth Canton product is currently hitting .308. Bob Hamilton of Royal Oak is the second team selection at second base. Hamilton, who plays for Alma College during the school year, is presently hitting .301 for first place Royal Oak.

THIRD BASE: The leading hitter for the Livonia League stars is Pat Simpson of Royal Oak. Simpson, who has a current average of .457 is a top clutch hitter with 15 RBIs. Bob Ganzak of Westland Burger King is currently in his fourth year in the Adray League. The 19 year-old, who also plays for the University of Detroit, has a batting mark of .335.

SHORTSTOP: Redford's Gary D'Ascenzo sports good range and a good arm to go along with a .320 batting average. D'Ascenzo plays for Oakland Community College during the spring. B.J. Lajoie, who will also compete in Thursday's Berry League all-star game, has a current batting mark of .314 for Livonia Griffin.

OUTFIELD: Westland Burger King's Ken Robinson will attend Michigan State University next fall on a football scholarship but in the meantime will be tearing up the Adray League with his hitting and defense. John Roy of Redford was the leading hitter in the league last year with a .450 mark and is currently batting .330. Mike Cullen, who will be a senior at Birmingham Brother Rice High School next year, is currently hitting .347 for Royal Oak. Plymouth's Chris Martucci made only two errors in two years at Plymouth Canton High School and now sports a .317 batting average. Tim Livsay of Livonia Griffin played for Henry Ford Community College this spring and currently posts a .320 batting average. Jeff Hodgkins of Westland is hitting .310 and picks up some of the pitching chores for Burger King.

DESIGNATED HITTERS: Joe Blugerman of Royal Oak is one of the league's top power hitters. Tom McWilliams, also of Royal Oak, provides power from the left side of the plate and Livonia's Mark Temby plays at Central Michigan University and sports a .312 average.

PITCHERS: Royal Oak's Bill Stennett boasts a 4-0 record and will get the starting assignment. Kevin Bara, Redford's ace, has a 3-2 record this year after a 12-1 showing last season. Kevin Smith has a 1.67 ERA for Royal Oak and a 2-0 record. Jamie Knapp is 2-1 for Livonia Griffin as is Mark Falvo of Plymouth. Tom Willette of Plymouth and Warren Wallis of Livonia each will compete in Thursday's Berry League all-star game.

"Chips off the ole Rock"

Residents with reports of what young people from the community are doing are invited to share the news with all by writing Chips off the Rock, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48070.

Learning about the free enterprise system, the American political scene and democracy recently at Albion College were Lisa Santer and John Nickols, both from Plymouth. The two were among 200 teenagers in Michigan attending the 12th annual Young People's Citizenship Seminar sponsored by the Michigan Farm Bureau of Lansing and its member county organizations.

The Victor Foundation Scholarship thought enough about Sherri Lynn Ribar's future to invest $6,000 in a scholarship for her. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orin S. Ribar, formerly of Plymouth. The grant was sponsored by Daisy Division, Victor Comptometer Corporation of Rogers, Ark., the Daisy gun firm once located in Plymouth.

Also learning about democracy and how it functions at Girls State recently were Lori Zeller and Christi Burda, both of Plymouth. Lori was elected to serve on the state senate and Christi was elected a county commissioner of Goetz County during the 35th annual American Legion Auxiliary Girls State on the campus of Olivet College.

They were among 500 high school juniors taking part in the program designed to give high school students experience in the practical exercise of politics. During the week on campus, they heard advice from Ms. N. Lorraine Beebe, former state senator, Clyde Cleveland, member of the Detroit Common Council; Rep. Dennis O. Cawthorne, minority leader of the Michigan House of Representatives; and Judge Robert J. Danhof of the Michigan Court of Appeals.

ROBIN JO SILBER, daughter of Mrs. T.J. Silber of River Oaks Drive, Plymouth, recently won second prize in a poster contest urging employment of the handicapped. A 1971 graduate of Plymouth Salem high, she is about to graduate from Boston University's School for the Arts with a major in graphic design.

Two Plymouth high school seniors have been awarded $450 Board of Regents Scholarships for next year at Eastern Michigan University. They are Daniel Hardy, grandson of Mr.

and Mrs. L. Bohl of S. Main, and Linda Dwyer, daughter of Marilyn Dwyer of Penniman Avenue. Daniel will be studying business administration and Linda will be studying dramatic arts.

A radio career may be awaiting Lynn Gail Jasin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Jasin of Murray Hill, Plymouth. Lynn, a sophomore at Western Michigan University, was recently named chief engineer for the college's student-operated radio stations, WIDR and WIDR-FM, for the fall semester. WIDR is a closed-circuit dormitory radio station while WIDR-FM is expected to begin broadcasting test signals shortly with a coverage area of metropolitan Kalamazoo.

Eying a medical career is Betty Hibler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hibler of Plymouth Township. She was recently inducted into Phi Kappa Phi — national honor society for college students. She also belongs to Alpha Lambda Delta, a national honor society for outstanding university women.

AFTER 24 YEARS at Dunn Steel Products Division in Plymouth, Laurence S. VanOrsdale has retired. For the past three years he has worked as a shipping department leader. VanOrsdale and his wife have lived in Plymouth since 1937.

Freedom Train is a trip worth taking

BY SUE ROSIEK

Walking, or rather riding through the American Freedom Train is like floating through a time tunnel and being bombarded with 200 years of history in 20 minutes.

The train is chock-full of memorabilia and certainly worth the $2 admission, but it leaves you craving a second, maybe even a third, look.

Parked at the Penn Central Station, 17th and Vernor, in Detroit, the 25-car steampowered locomotive features exhibits of American contributions in government, arts, sports and architecture.

Visitors travel through the 10-car showcase on a moving walkway. Individual "sound waves" provide a narration of each exhibit, while strains of "America the Beautiful" are played in the background.

The exhibit information is overwhelming and the visual effects are exciting.

To avoid long lines and mid-day heat, visit the train in the morning as close to the 8 a.m. opening time as possible. Waiting time is minimal.

"Afternoon and closing times generally have the longest wait," said one member of the Detroit Bicentennial Commission, sponsor of the Freedom Train's Detroit stop.

More than 80 persons from the Northwest Branch of the YMCA in Redford Township, viewed the train recently and the consensus was: "Fantastic but too fast."

"IT WAS GREAT," commented Al-freda Reed, of Redford Township. "But before I got a chance to ooh and ahh it was over."

Florence Davis, of Livonia, thought the train was very well organized and labeled it a "once in a lifetime experience."

"Some of the exhibits reminded me of things I have lived through and that made me feel old," laughed Mrs. Davis.

From music to movies, the train offers a sprinkling of Americana over the last 200 years, and members of the YMCA group talked about their favorite exhibits.

"I'm a fan of old movies and really enjoyed the performing arts car," said Sue Reed of Redford Township. "I really liked Rudy Valentino's jacket."

Scott Toth of Redford Township was fascinated with the exhibit of early inventions and seeing the mock-up of a lunar module. "The individual speakers was a clever idea," added Toth.

"I liked everything," announced Jerome Kalszewski, 8, of Redford Township. "Especially the talking mannequins."

The mannequins highlight the Freedom Train's "Origins" car. Here, ethnic, religious and cultural contributions are examined.

rights conflicts in the '60s, and the swearing in of the first non-elected president.

The train features several contributions from Michigan and former Mich-iganers including an early 1900 automobile steering wheel, Joe Louis's boxing gloves, Bob Lanier's size 20 sneakers, and the family Bible used at President Ford's swearing-in as 38th president.

Besides the 10-car exhibit, there also are two glass-enclosed display cars. One deals with the transportation industry in America, and the other contains the freedom bell; which is twice the size of the Liberty Bell.

SOUVENIRS and refreshments are available near the train and in the park across the street. Trackside entertainment, coordinated by Candice Kitchen of Bloomfield Township, is offered daily. Ms. Kitchen is on loan to the Detroit Bicentennial Commission from the Burroughs Corp.

The Freedom Train will be in Detroit through July 6. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for youths 18 and under and $1 for senior citizens 65 and older. Exhibit cars are open 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and until midnight on Friday and Saturday.

Boy Scout Troop 889 of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Livonia will act as the service guides today (Thursday) and July 4 at the train site.

Since there is virtually no parking at the Penn Central Station, the Detroit Department of Transportation is offering a shuttle service from Wonderland Shopping Center in Livonia. Buses leave every 20 minutes from 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Fare is 50 cents one way.

Greenfield Village celebrates

Greenfield Village will be celebrating the lazy days of summer when it presents its Old Time Summer Festival now through Aug. 24.

From Town Hall to the Village Green, Greenfield Village Players will present two alternate shows.

"Gaslight Melodies" will feature songs and comic sketches from the 1890s. "Zigfeld Revue" will offer skits and music from the Roaring 20s era.

On a nearby corner, in the shadow of the courthouse where he once practiced as a circuit-riding lawyer in Illinois, Abraham Lincoln stumps for the Senate in a re-enactment of the 1958 debates with Stephen Douglas.

Down the road, the years roll back to 1770. On a bunting-draped platform, Benjamin Franklin talks revolution with a colonial lady. A block away, a cigar-smoking gentleman spins yarns of Mississippi River life drawn from the writings of Mark Twain.

Strolling minstrels roam the village streets to the strains of old-time ballads and authentic American folk tunes. They will gather at the rear of Doc Bryson's wagon for the Medicine Show, in which the doc extolls the virtues of his amazing cure-all.

The Players will be presenting a courtroom comedy skit from the 1880s. "The Trial" depicts a young woman who is suing a prospective employer for refusing her a job on the grounds that women can't handle new-fangled machines like typewriters. The spectator's act as a jury, and the skit's ending depends on their verdict.

Two exhibits will be offered at the Henry Ford Museum. "The Circus" recalls the thrill of a three-ring show with a calliope, circus parade wagon, poster, programs and other memorabilia.

"Industrial Heritage USA" traces 200 years of the nation's progress in industry, commerce and agriculture by contrasting the products of the past with those of today.

Summer hours in the village and museum are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Admission to either facility is $2.75 for adults and $1.25 for children six through 12. Children under six are admitted free.

Austin at July 4 festivities

Richard H. Austin, Michigan secretary of state, will be featured speaker at the annual "Let Freedom Ring" ceremonies July 4 at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn. The outdoor celebration, now in its 12th year, commemorates the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the people who made it possible.

The hour-long ceremonies begin at noon on the steps of the museum's Independence Hall entrance.

A highlight of the celebration this year is a specially-written dramatic presentation recalling the events of July 4, 1776 and bringing to life the words of our forefathers nearly 200 years ago. The Lamphere School District band of Madison Heights will provide music.

Also on the program is Walker L.

Cisler, chairman of the board of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation and a trustee of the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge.

On the museum lawn, Revolutionary War units will set up period campsites and perform 18th century military maneuvers to add color and pageantry to the traditional observances.

The Independence Day program begins with a parade of eight costumed Colonial military units to the stirring sounds of fife and drum music. A horse-drawn open coach bearing the speakers and museum officials bring up the rear of the procession.

OCC hosts Latin tour

The humanities department of Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge campus will sponsor an eight-day, seven night tour of the Dominican Republic beginning Aug. 15. The tour will be under the guidance of Spanish professor, Dr. Charles Braun, and John Davenport, chairman of the humanities department.

Two credit hours will be available for those who elect credit. The seminar will meet in pre-arranged intercultural exchange with peer groups of students and faculty from the University of Santo Domingo.

Cost for the tour package is $444 per person, based on double occupancy.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

First it was the electric eye that replaced the old time foul judge who sat in a cage high up on the wall. Then came the automatic pinsetter.

It was followed by the automatic scorer. Now the grand old game of bowling is about to get the most surprising of all modern equipment—a laminated lane surface.

Word of the new step came to the fore at the bowling proprietors' national convention in New York last week.

While it was said that the new surface may be a year or two away from approval by the American Bowling Congress, it was learned that an experiment has been going on at the Red Carpet Lanes in Milwaukee for the past year.

The new surface is being manufactured by the General Electric Co. and is said to be much on the order of formica. It is about one fourth of an inch thick and is marked with the same board lines as the maple and pine lanes and even has the arrows to guide the bowlers.

IT IS SAID that with the new laminated surface there will be no need for refinishing lanes in the future. All that will be required is the daily cleaning. Like the present lanes, the laminated surface will have to be oiled—but only for a short distance.

It also is claimed that the lamination also brings right and left hand bowlers on equal terms. No longer would either be able to claim an advantage.

If the new surface is approved, bowling will become the most modern equipped of all sports and it will be much like the synthetic turf on modern football gridirons.

ANOTHER CHANGE is quietly taking place in many of the area establishments for the coming season. This is the boosting of the prize money to attract stronger teams.

The latest example is at Bel-Aire Lanes in Farmington where the Classic prize list has been boosted to $3,000 for first place. Both the senior house and the Bel-Aire men's league will offer $1,500 for first place.

Only a few years ago a top prize of $1,000 was considered the all-time peak.

JOHN SNYDER, a former resident of Birmingham who now operates of Birmingham who now operates Thunder Bowl in Alpena, has been named regional vice president of the Bowling Proprietors Association of America. He replaces Clarence Claypool, who recently sold Grandmont Lanes in Detroit and, at the moment, no longer is in the bowling business.

"PAT FAIRLEITH who modestly confesses to being 58 years old, enjoyed the biggest thrill of her bowling career last week in the mixed league at Merri-Bowl.

She put together games of 233, 188 and 181 for a 602 series—the first double century series she ever bowled.

Meanwhile, Chuck Evans and Kathy Holly, continue to lead the best ball tournament with their 841 series. The event has another month to run and they have set the pace for the start.

RICK CAPALDI, one of the owners of Westland Bowl, showed his customers how it should be done the day he rolled games of 247 and 217 in a 670 series.

The Westland Bowl women also had another big week. Bowling with the Early Birds, Darlene Varley had a high game of 223 and Joyce Boustuet added a 220 while Pam Martin rolled high series with 569.

In the junior divisions, Valerie Avant, 10 years old, had a 161 in 387, while Dave Hague posted a 232 and Mark Herron had 207 in 575.

Churchill grad Henriksson gets 3rd letter

Roy D. Henriksson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Henriksson of 35422 Minton in Livonia, has earned his third letter as an MIT varsity baseball player this spring. He was elected team captain for the 1975-76 season.

Roy was named the Greater Boston League All-Star second baseman this year. He set the MIT season records for most at-bats (107), total plate appearances (125), and fielding average for a second baseman (.972) this year. He has also lettered in basketball in his freshman and sophomore years, but had to sit out this last year due to knee problems.

Roy played right field on the 1974 team that went to the NCAA playoffs, the first MIT team in any sport to receive an NCAA tournament bid. He was recently awarded the Straight T-pewter stein, MIT's highest athletic honor, along with his teammates in recognition of this accomplishment. A solid veteran team returns next year after this spring's 12-14 campaign, and Coach Fran O'Brien is looking to his captain to lead MIT back into the NCAA's.

THE NEW CENTRAL office of Michigan Bell on Sheldon south of Cherry Hill will soon have new switching equipment installed to make it possible for Canton residents to have their own telephone exchanges.

Canton residents will soon have new phone exchange

CANTON — Michigan Bell has started installing electronic switching equipment in its recently completed central office building on Sheldon south of Cherry Hill in Canton Township.

Haze Wilson, local manager for Michigan Bell, said the one-story building will house an electronic switching system to serve the Canton area.

It will take several months to install the new equipment. But, when completed, the $4 million facility will provide service for some 6,000 telephone customers now served by parts of the Plymouth, City of Wayne and Ypsilanti exchanges.

THE NEW electronic central office will be placed in service next spring.

At that time, the service of these 6,000 customers will be transferred to the new office, says Wilson, resulting in changes of phone numbers for all of them.

"In fact, business customers will learn what their new phone numbers will be in July. By the end of August, all residential customers will know what their new numbers will be."

When the equipment becomes operational, he adds, phone customers will have "the most up-to-date communications system the industry can provide."

THE BUILDING which will house the equipment has a design potential for two floors. It is of reinforced concrete with a face brick exterior and masonry block back-up.

The total cost of $4 million includes the building and equipment.

The new switching system was developed by scientists at Bell Laboratories.

What made electronic switching a reality was the burgeoning family of semiconductor devices spawned by the transistor — invented by three Bell Labs scientists in 1957 — and the development of an economic magnetic memory large enough to handle the enormous store of information needed to control the switching function.

The result is a totally new switching system family which requires less space and is much easier to maintain.

In spite of its sophistication, the electronic central office serves the same purpose as that of any other central office — to connect the right wires so persons can talk to each other.

"Today, more persons are making more telephone calls over greater distances than ever before, and talking longer," says Wilson.

A 'good deal' is turning sour for families waiting for refund

Gene D. Lawrence, where are you? That's the question rummaging through the minds of the Walter Johnsons and Boyd Van Horns of Camelot Subdivision in Canton Township.

Mrs. Johnson spends her days forlornly gazing across a yard defunct of grass, wondering what happened to the $400 her family forked out to have sod installed by Lawrence. Although the Van Horns have a sodded lawn, they feel the job was less than adequate.

THE TWO NEIGHBORS decided to have their lawns sodded after being contacted by Lawrence last month. According to Mrs. Johnson, the price quoted sounded like such a good deal that they couldn't resist.

"At first Mr. Lawrence seemed like a real nice guy. But after a month of this we want our money back so we can afford to have a new lawn. We've called the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, but they tell us it is a civil matter," says Mrs. Johnson.

The original price quoted by Lawrence was $280, says Mrs. Johnson, but that was changed to $395 when Lawrence said the lawn had been mis-measured by his help. Adding to the couple's frustration was that the sod, a brownish color when installed, never turned green. Lawrence yanked it out and agreed to replace it with green sod.

But the Johnsons were fed up and asked for their money back. Lawrence, who was supposed to pay back the money didn't show on Monday. His phone, found the Johnsons, had been disconnected.

Hoping for some restitution, the Johnsons called the Crimboli Landscaping Co. in Westland, a firm which Lawrence had subcontracted with in the past. The Crimbolis say Johnson doesn't work with them any longer.

"WE'VE HAD A LOT of complaints about him called into our office," says Mrs. Dennis Crimboli. "We feel badly about this because it gives us a bad name and we really don't have anything to do with him."

Mrs. Johnson called the Crimbolis after remembering that was the name printed on the side of Lawrence's truck. Lawrence had subcontracted with the Crimbolis earlier in the year. Before that time, he had done some work with Harry Lambercht Nursery in Westland. Mr. Lambercht is Mrs. Crimboli's father.

"My dad says he had problems with some of Lawrence's work, also," says Mrs. Crimboli.

She was unable to say how many complaints had been registered by area residents, but says the phone calls have been numerous.

"One of the reasons I feel so bad about this whole mess," says Mrs. Johnson, "is that I recommended this guy to our neighbors."

PLYMOUTH—The philosophy and general approach for a special program for gifted students have been approved by the Plymouth board of education.

The program has been referred back for development of a set of objectives to carry out the general philosophy approved by trustees Monday night.

The general approach was approved 5-0 by the board after it heard a presentation from James L. Leary, assistant superintendent for instruction. Absent were trustees George Lawton and Carl Berry.

A KEY CONCEPT behind the program, explains Leary, is that it is the responsibility of educators to recognize and develop the special skills each child may possess whether the child is talented academically, artistically, vocationally or athletically.

"This philosophy is based upon the belief that each individual should be helped toward self actualization and independence. The Plymouth Community School District has officially committed itself to provide for special educational needs of those who are academically talented.

"This commitment relates not only to providing the opportunity and resources for educational enrichment, but to the identification and elimination of barriers preventing the establishment of special educational opportunities for talented and gifted students."

TALENTED AND gifted (TAG) students have been identified as those who may demonstrate:

- Intellectual giftedness, such as a very high IQ.
- Academic talent, such as high achievement and/or excellence in one or more disciplines.
- Creativity.
- Exceptional ability in the performing arts.
- Exceptional muscular skills on individualized or team athletics.
- Exceptional vocational skills.

LEARY EXPECTS some part of the program can be implemented in September, but it will be two to three years before the full program can be put into force.

Tentative recommendations on cost probably will be ready in August, he added, but it is anticipated most items can be carried out within the allocations of the separate budgets for each building.

"I'd be more concerned with the quality of the program and not cost because I hope we will be creative in developing the project without burdening the budget."

AT THIS POINT, Trustee Gary Mirto let it be known he was unhappy with Leary's leaving the district to accept a job with Walled Lake School District after spending such a short time in Plymouth.

"We are going to have to wait to hire a new person to replace you, and whether the new program will come about is just speculation because you won't be around here to help carry it out."

"What I'm prepared to do is just set back and wait until we get a new director and then act," added Mirto.

Leary replied there are number of personnel in the district now involved in planning the program who can, without difficulty, develop the next phase of the proposal.

Among the goals will be to identify the current instructional practices and resources for TAG students and to develop alternative practices directed towards meeting specific needs.

Other general goals are: to identify and develop procedures for staff to attain the skills necessary to meet the needs of TAG students; develop procedures for parent and community involvement in implementation of programs; and to develop steps to enhance community awareness of the needs and opportunities available to TAG students.

Marda Benson, board secretary, said these general statements are fine but should be goals for all students in the district, and not just talented ones. Leary agreed.

Pastoral swap brings Briton to Livonia

By MARGARET MILLER

Livonia gets an ecclesiastical link with England this summer in a pastoral exchange completed through the World Council on Methodism.

The Rev. William A. Ritter, pastor of Newburg United Methodist Church, is filling a couple of pulpits on the Sussex channel coast south of London until the end of July while the Rev. Paul Eddyshaw takes over his duties in the suburban church located at 36500 Ann Arbor Trail.

"He gets three services the first week of July, poor chap," commented the English visitor after his first Sunday at Newburg. Rev. Eddyshaw explained that he serves Rustington Methodist Church, which regularly has morning and evening Sunday services, along with a smaller congregation about a mile and a half away.

Rev. Eddyshaw, questioning his interviewer about things American faster than he could be interrogated about things British, said that was precisely the reason he was interested in the exchange experience.

"So many things in England are influenced by what goes on in the American scene," he said, "and I wanted to know what happens here."

"Also, I want to know more about how Americans understand the gospel and seek to interpret it."

THE EXCHANGE is aimed not only at broadening the experiences of the two clergymen and their families but also as the basis for a hands-across-the-sea friendship between the two congregations.

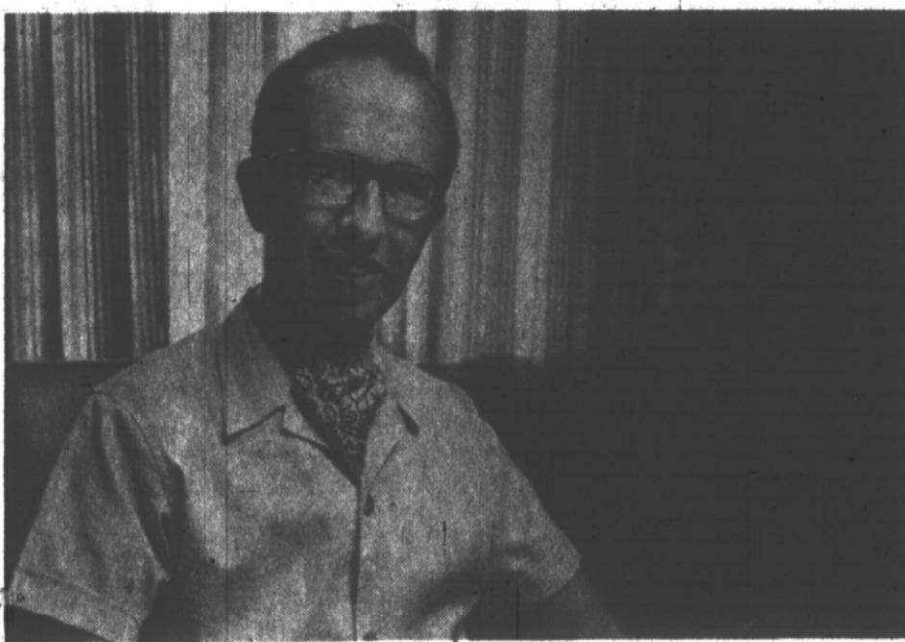

"It is my sincere hope," Rev. Ritter noted to the Newburg congregation before leaving, "that out of the exchange will come a friendship between our churches which could result, perhaps, in a youth group visit or a lay family exchange."

"No doubt letters will flow, but most important will be recognition that churches can exhibit a fellowship that touches hands across the sea. We hope it will be the end of an encounter, but the beginning."

Newburg made special preparations for the visit through a committee headed by Cheryl Grimm. It involved an all-church welcome in the form of a social on the church lawn two days before the visiting pastor was scheduled to preach his first sermon, and an all-church family picnic scheduled just before he and his family leaves.

In between, individual families are planning occasions to give Rev. Eddyshaw, his wife, Barbara, and their three children, Jill, Philip and Rachel, as many views as possible of American life, suburban style.

THE TWO FAMILIES met for about an hour in London as Rev. Ritter, his wife, Kris, and their children,

Billy and Julie, arrived and the Eddyshaws prepared to fly west.

"We were able to greet each other as brothers," the British pastor said in his initial sermon, "brothers in the human family, and as Christians and as Methodists."

In his adopted church less than a week, the visitor was able to pick up a few specific differences between his congregations at home and the one he will serve here.

The regular evening services that are part of his schedule in England represent one major difference.

"They bring a smaller congregation than the morning services, so I suppose in time they may be held less frequently," he said. "But to those who attend, they are very important. Probably a lot of those who go regularly in the evening remember back to the days when the evening service was Sunday's major event."

THE AREA his church serves is "one that many people retire to," Rev. Eddyshaw said, so his congregation has many older people as well as young families.

And, while there are active church groups including the Modern Moms, for young wives, and the Women's Fellowship, mostly older women, as well as a youth program, he's inclined to believe congregations in England "may work more on the family principle."

"One interesting difference is that all the children come to the church service for the first 15 minutes every Sunday," he added. "We encourage the children to come into the church from the very beginning."

"Of course, our congregations are somewhat smaller, so there is room. It might not be possible here."

Rev. Eddyshaw is the son of a miner and a graduate of Richmond Theological College, a part of London University. He served churches in Yorkshire, Leicester before taking over his current ministry and has been assistant to the superintendent of the Southhampton synod.

Lutheran split possible, pastor says

By MARGARET MILLER

Next week's convention of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod at Anaheim, Calif., could bring dramatic changes to several local congregations of that denomination.

And the Rev. Roger Schlee, pastoral delegate from the circuit of this area, is attending with the full knowledge that certain resolutions that may come before the convention could bring disciplinary action against him as well as a split in the synod.

Rev. Schlee, senior pastor of Faith Lutheran Church of Livonia, lines himself up with a faction of "moderates" protesting a "conservative persuasion" that currently dominates the synod.

This position has put him on the board of directors of the Michigan area ELIM (Evangelical Lutherans in Mission), the protesting convention would require strong action against ELIM and its members.

"Then it is entirely possible I would be disciplined, and I suppose the congregation here would have to make decisions—the kind we've tried to avoid during this long controversy because we wanted to avoid divisiveness."

"But I keep praying that there will be no split—that there will be room for all of us in this denomination."

PASTOR SCHLEE and Wayne Wiltse, a member of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church of Livonia, will be pastoral and lay delegates from the circuit that includes, besides their congregations, All Saints of Livonia, St. Paul of Northville, Hosanna-Tabor of Redford Township and St. Paul and Prince of Peace of Farmington.

Each circuit, he said, sends one pastoral and one lay voting delegate, and the two cannot be from the same church.

He indicated that his moderate position is shared by Wiltse and by most of the pastors and staff members of the seven churches in the circuit.

THE CONTROVERSY this delegate said, has its roots in the "tremendous changes" brought by the '50s and '60s to the Missouri Synod.

"We are a denomination of largely German Lutherans, as opposed to the other large denominations that tend to be more amalgamous," he said, "and there is a strongly conservative feeling especially in the Midwest, which is the synod's stronghold."

Nevertheless, he went on, "the kind of opening-windows changes" that Pope John talked about was happening in our denomination too, and there were indications of more concern for other Christians.

But with these changes, he went on, came fears and conservative protests that teachings were being "watered down."

"THE 1969 CONVENTION," Pastor Schlee said, "reflected both these feelings."

"On the one hand, it made a decision for fellowship and pulp-sharing with other Lutheran denominations: on the other it elected as president Dr. J.A.O. Preus, a strongly conservative man."

The years in between have seen, he continued, protests about teachings at Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, then the firing of its president, the establishment of a Seminary in Exile (Sem-inex) and the organization of ELIM. There also has been a deep rift in the church's mission program.

"SO WE COME NOW to the convention July 4 to 11," he tent on, "and nobody knows what will happen."

The proposals that could come to the floor, he said, involve not only the disciplining of ELIM leaders but also possible dissolution of the English district, one that is non-geographical and largely moderate and disciplining district presidents who have ordained Seminex graduates.

"If the convention takes a hard line and these resolutions are passed, then I suppose there could be a split," the pastor said, "because we who are moderate feel strongly about our position and will not give up."

BUT THERE ARE other possibilities, he added. One is a "soft" convention, which "would make people thing everything is fine. But the machinery is already set up for doing what the conservatives want and gradually eliminating those who are opposed to them."

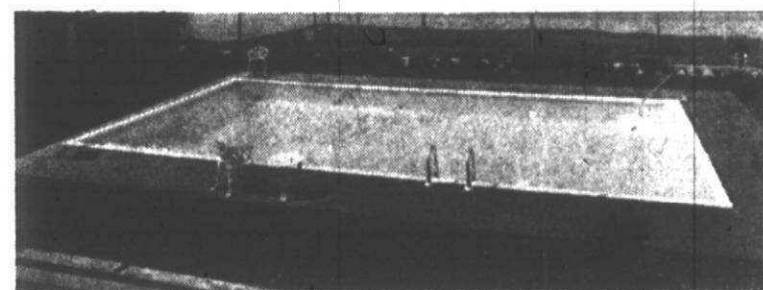

It's also possible, Pastor Schlee said, that actions taken would leave the church fragmented, with districts pulling out and members sick of the bickering going in varied directions.

"That is what many of us fear most of all," he added.

This pastor said he's viewing the situation as objectively as possible.
